Four Hospitalized With Serious Burns After Explosion Rips Yakel Residence

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

A gas filled home exploded with dynamite force late Wednesday afternoon, literally tearing the walls from the foundation and hospitalizing four men, including the owner, with serious burns.

The explosion, shortly before 5 p.m., rocked the neighborhood as flying glass and furniture erupted from the William Yakel residence at 233 So. 1st.

Yakel, 37, in the most serious condition, suffered severe head and chest injuries and cuts and burns on the face, arms and hands. He was reported in fair condition in St. Elizabeth Hospital.

The others hospitalized who were also reported in fair condition, were a farmer and his three sons. William Pillard Sr., 56, 2000 West O, suffered burns about the face and right arm and possible head and internal injuries. Robert Pillard, 18, suffered severe burns on the face, neck, shoulders, arms and both hands. Donald Pillard, 25, 1738 M, suffered burns on the face, neck, both arms and hands. All suffered shock.

William Pillard Jr., 27, 2000 West O, was released from the hospital after treatment for minor burns on the arm.

Two persons living in an upstairs apartment in the Yakel residence, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leitch, both employed at Gold's, were not at home but lost all their family possessions.

A witness to the explosion, Andrew Lambert, 101 M, a foundry worker, said he saw the home literally lift in the air and come apart. By the time he reached the home, he said, he saw Yakel stagger across the lawn and collapse near a hedge, bleeding badly.

Firemen answering the two-alarm blaze were called away from the building by Chief E. P. Feaster when the top floor sagged from weight of the water. The firemen stood helplessly by as flames tore through eaves. Feaster said the home was completely destroyed.

Yakel's wife, Ruth, returned home minutes after the explosion as did the Leitchs.

When the explosion occurred, Yakel was sitting in the front room of the home while the four Pillards were working in the basement.

"There was only one explosion," William Jr. said afterward. "We weren't knocked unconscious," he said. "We all walked out."

Warm Temps Set For State Today

Nebraska and Lincoln are due for a warm-up Thursday following a short spell of relatively cool, pleasant weather.

The cool weather did not set any records for July 8, but was unusual in that the cool weather extended over the entire state, the weather bureau said.

High in Lincoln Wednesday at both the city and airport stations was 74.

Bumblebee Won

Richard Anker, 821 So. 12th, had a fight with a bumblebee Wednesday night and lost.

He was driving on Cotner between Star and Dudley when the bee attacked. He lost control. His car jumped the curb and struck a tree, peeling the bark. Damage to tree, city property—was $15.

A Brave Man—And He Never Dies

By JOHN J. CASSERLY
ON THE WEST—CENTRAL FRONT (INS) — His name is Madden. He goes on and on and never dies.

They had shouted his name at Triangle Hill. They called for him on Old Baldy. And Wednesday he went to Porkchop Hill as a volunteer.

The GI's said he never should have been there in the hell of it. He is a Catholic priest.

When someone sits down to write the history of this war, the name of Madden will lead those of many generals.

No One Would Go

He is a brave man. These were the words of the weary men who spoke Wednesday on the front lines of Korea with a prayer.

Father (First Lt.) James F. Madden, 34, of Tamaqua, Pa., volunteered at dawn Wednesday because no one else would go. He set himself, short and square, on a tank-like personnel carrier and manned a 50-caliber machine-gun.

And then he went. "I don't know what happened," he said.

'Cornhusker' Fast On Rocks

PUSAN (Thursday) — (INS) — The Skipper and six crewmen of a battered freighter ground on rocks off Pusan still clung to the badly damaged vessel today waiting for enough tugs to arrive to start salvage operations.

A Military Sea Transport Service spokesman said two tugs were on their way to the "Cornhusker Mariner" from Japan and Cheju Island to join the three tugs now standing by.

The spokesman said salvage operations would start as soon as they arrive.

The 14,000 ton freighter, operating out of Boston, was hurled on "Lighthouse Rocks" at the mouth of Pusan bay by high seas early Tuesday.

Captain Stays Aboard

During the day 48 crew members were taken off the craft. The captain, Nicholas Telesmanic, of New York City, and six crew members stayed aboard to try to save her.

The ship carries a general cargo worth $1,000,000.

This Year Has Something — More Car Owners

By RUTH RAYMOND
Star Staff Writer

There's something about 1953 that makes more people in Lancaster County drive and own motor vehicles.

And there's a man in the Lancaster County Court House who has seen the Lincoln area grow up, car-wise, from 1927 until 1953.

There doesn't seem to be any reason for the rush at Lyle M. Stover's automobile registration and license office but figures show that 1,700 more motor vehicle licenses have been issued from Jan. 1 to July 3 of 1953 than were issued last year.

Records in Stover's office show 54,900 certificates have been issued by his department since the beginning of this year.

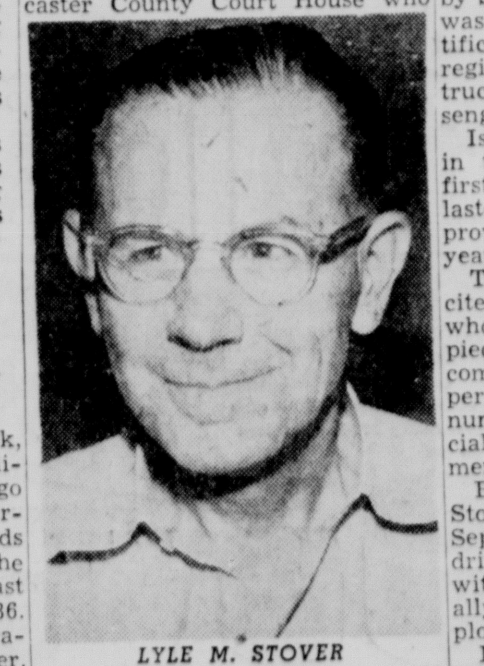

Stover says "You never can tell what's going to happen from one week to another." He's been directing operations from his Court House basement office since Jan. 6, 1927.

During that first year, 24,783 vehicle registrations were issued by Stover himself—his office staff was added later—and 41,401 certificates were issued in 1952. These registration figures don't include trucks or any vehicles except passenger automobiles.

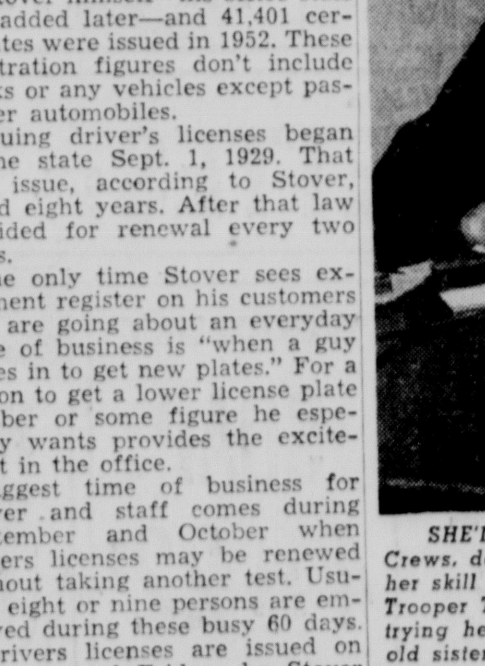

Issuing driver's licenses began in the state Sept. 1, 1929. That first issue, according to Stover, lasted eight years. After that law provided for renewal every two years.

The only time Stover sees excitement register on his customers who are going about an everyday piece of business is "when a guy comes in to get new plates." For a person to get a lower license plate number or some figure he especially wants provides the excitement in the office.

Biggest time of business for Stover and staff comes during September and October when drivers licenses may be renewed without taking another test. Usually eight or nine persons are employed during these busy 60 days.

Liaison Officers Will Meet Again Today

New Instructions For General Clark Reported Sent From Washington

SEOUL (Thursday) (AP) — The Allies and Reds agreed to a meeting of liaison officers in Pannunjom Thursday presumably to set in motion once again the machinery for achieving an armistice in the Korean War.

Such an armistice may have to come without the approval of South Korea and its vitriolic President Syngman Rhee. That prospect was faced in an exchange of notes between the U.N. Far East commander and the top Communist commanders in Korea.

The U.N. Command called for the liaison officer meeting at 4 p.m. Thursday (2 a.m., Thursday, CST) and the Reds agreed.

Broad uncertainties, stretching from Seoul to Washington to Peking, clouded the path to armistice in the three-year war.

The President and his top diplomatic and military advisors were reported Wednesday night to have prepared instructions for Gen. Mark Clark on a new message to the Communists' Korean Command concerning negotiations for an armistice in Korea.

The President met at the White House in late afternoon with Secretary of State Dulles and Under Secretary Walter Bedell Smith, Defense Secretary Wilson, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, and Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) the acting Senate floor leader.

The President, in a news conference held after the latest Communist move, said no man could foretell exactly how the armistice would come out. Eisenhower said that unfortunately a misunderstanding still remained between the United States and President Rhee. Earlier a top-ranking U.S. government official said a truce "has got to happen."

In Seoul, Eisenhower's special envoy, Walter S. Robertson, kept on trying to get Rhee back in line after nearly two weeks of secret talks.

South Korea's official reaction was swift and bristling to the new, that the Reds had accepted Gen. Mark Clark's offer for the two sides to meet and discuss a date for an armistice that would leave Korea divided.

South Korea's absentee truce delegate, Maj. Gen. Choi Duk Shin, said Rhee felt obligated to resist the signing of a truce under present terms not only for his own country's sake but also because it would be "an irreparable historical blunder on the part of America."

Choi has boycotted all truce sessions since May 25, principally on grounds that big decisions were being reached without consultation with South Korea.

Rhee's foreign minister, Pyun Tung Yai, reacted by saying his government wants three days' notification before any truce is signed.

Whether such time would serve for South Korea to carry out an off-repeated threat to pull troops out of the U.N. Command and fight on alone Pyun wouldn't say.

Even the Red letter handed over Wednesday at Pannunjom by liaison officers added to the uncertainties.

Openly arrogant in tone, the letter said at one point: "Our side holds that your side must take effective steps regarding the observance by the South Korean government and army of the armistice agreement and all other related agreements."

The letter renewed Red charges that the U. N. Command "connived" with Rhee in breaking truce terms already agreed to and warned that "should the United Nations Command continue to connive" the war might well break out anew "even if the Korean armistice agreement were signed."

The Reds indignantly recessed

No Results From Meet With Rhee

SEOUL (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark, U.S. special envoy Walker Robertson and Ambassador Ellis Briggs and Robert Murphy met for 22 minutes Thursday with stubborn South Korean President Syngman Rhee.

"The same as yesterday," Robertson told correspondents after the short session of the armistice deadlock.

That meant no progress in convincing Rhee that he should join in U.S. plans for an armistice.

Robertson and Rhee had met for more than an hour earlier in the day. Robertson is President Eisenhower's special envoy sent here to seek Rhee's co-operation in the U.S. program for an armistice in Korea.

Murphy is special adviser to Clark, U. N. Commander, on Korean problems.

As the party proceeded to the presidential mansion, more than 1,000 South Koreans passed by carrying banners and chanting anti-armistice slogans.

Reds 'Sorry,' But Blast U.S. Lines Anyway

SEOUL (Thursday) (INS) — Chinese Communist troops battered at American positions on East Berlin Outpost today while their loudspeakers "apologized" for the attacks because of the nearness of an armistice in the Korean War.

Two Chinese companies were hurled back by American defenders. Red loudspeaker broadcasts filtered across no man's land before the assault. A woman's voice dubbed "Dragon Lady" said: "The peace treaty has been signed."

A man's voice followed and said: "We hit you at the wrong time in the wrong place and on the wrong day."

Earlier, a bayonet-swinging American infantryman retook Berlin Outpost on the Western Korean front while Allied foot-soldiers drove Chinese attackers from all but the western slope of Porkchop Hill.

Frances Bera Wins Air Derby

LONG BEACH, Calif. (INS)—Frances S. Bera of Inglewood, Calif., Wednesday was named winner of the seventh annual All-Woman Transcontinental air race.

The 28-year-old flight instructor, accompanied by Co-Pilot Marcella Duke, also of Inglewood, won the 2,678-mile "Powder Puff" Derby in a 165 horsepower Stinson Voyager 108-2.

Mrs. Bera toured the distance in 21 hours and 53 minutes with an average ground speed of 122,378.10 miles per hour. Her handicap speed had been set at 117 miles per hour.

Forty-five of the original 49 who started the race at North Andover were eligible to win. They landed at Long Beach Airport before the deadline.

Three planes failed to complete the trip and one other was disqualified for landing at a city en route which had not been approved by the race committee as a stopping point.

News Around The Globe

Offshore Land Ownership Challenged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arkansas Wednesday challenged the constitutionality of the recent act of Congress giving states titles to submerged offshore lands.

Arkansas, through its attorney general, Tom Gentry, filed a suit in U.S. District Court here asking that the submerged lands act be declared "unconstitutional, null and void."

Gentry told reporters that attorneys general from 15 or 16 states will meet here this weekend to map plans for assisting Arkansas in prosecution of the action. Gentry did not name those who will take part.

(Nebraska Attorney General C. S. Beck said Wednesday night he had not heard of the meeting.)

Taft Operated On

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) underwent an exploratory operation Wednesday as specialists tried to find out more about the hip ailment which forced him to give up active leadership of the Senate.

"He stood the operation well and his condition is good," the hospital reported. Taft will be 64 this September.

Wednesday's surprise announcement also said Taft will remain in the hospital for two weeks.

Plant Sale OK'd

WASHINGTON—The Senate Banking Committee Wednesday approved, over the violent protests of its Democratic members, a program to sell 28 government synthetic rubber plants by next July 1.

The government's total investment in the plants is estimated at $18 million dollars. Their present book value, after accounting for depreciation, is $17 millions.

But The Dogs Are Dead!

ORANGE CITY (AP)—A will which provided a trust fund for the care of two dogs was set aside here Wednesday by District Judge M. D. Van Oesterhout.

Miss Hilma Mattsen, 56, who died a year ago, left a will which provided for the care of two Boston terriers she had in her home before she moved to Oil City, La.

The will had been drawn in 1936 and the dogs have been dead several years.

Cardinal Stepinac Ill

BEDGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—An official Yugoslav medical board has found that Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac is suffering from an excess of red blood corpuscles as a result of a heart condition.

Yugoslav authorities said Wednesday the 55-year-old prelate, confined to a remote village by the government, has refused to enter a hospital in Zabreb, for treatment.

Salisbury Boards Plane

LONDON (INS)—Acting British Foreign Minister Lord Salisbury left London by plane Wednesday night for the Big Three foreign ministers meeting in Washington beginning July 10.

He added that he hoped during his visit to the United States to meet with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who is recuperating in Newport, R. I. from a kidney operation.

Heaviest Wine Drinker

FRESNO, Calif. (INS)—California may produce more wine than any other state, but the District of Columbia drinks more of it, man for man.

The wine institute reported a survey shows that residents of the district have drunk more wine per capita for the last five years running than in any state. In 1952 the quota was 2.43 gallons a person.

'Lowland Sea' Treats Concert Goers As University Group Offers Musical

Lincoln concert-goers were treated to an unusual musical treat Wednesday night with the University of Nebraska presentation of Alee Wilder's "Lowland Sea." The University Summer Chorus, under the direction of Earl Jenkinson, skillfully presented to a capacity audience the one-act folk opera based on simple songs of the sea.

With the chorus backed on risers in the background and an almost vacant stage in the foreground, the cast incorporated musical talent and dramatic ability to tell the story of a sailor and his love.

Damage Suit Filed Against Pay Rock Oil

A $9,557.96 damage suit was filed in U.S. District Court Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. William G. Wall of Norfolk against the Pay Rock Oil Company, Inc., and certain of its agents for the alleged sale of securities which "have no value."

The action is being brought against the company; A. G. Wagner of Lancaster County, listed as company agent and representative, and C. C. Whitaker of Eureka, Kan., president and managing officer of the company.

Court Says: Plant Trees

DARMSTADT, Germany (AP)—A 16-year-old boy from nearby Pungstadt faces quite a chore in his forthcoming vacations. He has been sentenced to plant 300 young trees.

The Darmstadt juvenile court handed down this decision Wednesday after convicting him of setting ablaze with a camp fire the same number of trees in a forest nursery.

TOKYO (Thursday) (INS)—Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida was reported today to be planning to visit the United States in August.

New Supersonic Jet Is Praised By Test Pilot Welch

MUROC, Calif. (INS)—North American Aviation announced Wednesday a new supersonic jet called the "Super Sabre" has passed initial tests successfully at Edwards Air Force Base near Murdoc, Calif.

The swept-wing YW-100 made two flights on the first day of the test program, an unusual occurrence for a brand-new plane.

Although performance details of the new plane are restricted, the Air Force had previously permitted that the YF-100 is designed to fight at speeds greater than that of sound. The plane is powered by a Pratt and Whitney J-57 engine.

Test Pilot George Welch, who put the plane through intensive flights the first day, declared the Super Sabre "is the best I've wrung out in 13 years of flying. We really put it through the wringer. It does everything we had hoped."

Man Jailed For Assault, Theft

A 26-year-old Michigan laborer was arrested here Wednesday in connection with the assault and robbery of 78-year-old Robert Remter of Hickman.

Remter told police he was hit in the head, knocked down, and robbed of his billfold containing $8 and some change. The incident occurred Wednesday evening in an alley between 8th and 9th Streets and M and N.

According to police, Remter said he had met the man for a short time in Denver. The two met again in Lincoln and had supper together before the incident.

Mrs. Furrey Hurt In Collision At 10th, A

Mrs. Harley (Ruby) Furrey, 32, of Cortland, suffered a bruised left hip in a two-car collision at the intersection of 10th and A, Wednesday night.

She was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital where she was held overnight.

Mrs. Furrey was riding in the back seat of a car driven by her husband, Harley, that was traveling south on 10th Street at the time of the accident.

Driver of the other car in the collision was John L. Reed, 16, a student, of 4621 A, who was going west on A Street at the time of impact.

U.S. Buys More Bins For Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department Wednesday awarded contracts for the purchase of 5,070 bins with a total capacity of 89,405,000 bushels to help store government-owned surplus grain in the Midwest.

This shortage capacity is 39,405,000 bushels more than the department said a few weeks ago it would need to buy.

The agency already owns bins with a total capacity of about 545 million bushels.

The department estimated the cost of the new bins at an average of about 24½ cents per bushel, including cost of transportation and erection.

The bins will be set up during the next two months in Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

The department expects farmers to deliver a large quantity of corn to it as full payment of price support loans. The new bins will be used to help house this grain.

1,000-Acre An Hour Fire Out Of Control In California Forest

KING CITY, Calif. (INS)—A roaring grass and timber fire raged out of control Wednesday night in the Los Padres Forest Preserve 16 miles west of King City, threatening the historic mission San Antonio de Padua and imperiling Army installations at nearby Camp Hunter Liggett.

The flames broke out shortly before dusk and were consuming brush and grass at the rate of 1,000 acres an hour, according to Forest Ranger Jack Curran.

Hundreds of troops were battling the fire.

Thousands of wild animals, deer, rabbits and squirrels, raced before the flames to places of refuge.

The fire broke out on the ridges behind the Camp Hunter Liggett installations. At nightfall, the flames were leaping 50 to 60 feet in the air and advancing behind a strong wind.

PARIS (INS)—French officials welcomed San Francisco Mayor Elmer Robinson and his wife Wednesday at an official reception in the Paris town hall.

Love, In Complicated Fashion, Takes Time Through Channels

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Love, with the help of Congress and some other good folks, has found a way for Cheu Chinn and Susie Keu.

Chinn is a 23-year-old North Platte High School graduate now a U.S. Army corporal in Japan. Susie, 22, is the Chinese girl he wooed and won while overseas.

A few months ago, it looked like the two wouldn't even be permitted to marry—to say nothing about returning to the United States together. But the rocky road to romance has smoothed.

Here's the story: Cheu, his brother, Pon, and their mother, came to the United States from China in 1937 to join their father, Henry Chinn, now a North Platte restaurant operator. The brothers went through high school together and Pon once was governor of Nebraska Boys State.

The boys thought they were naturalized, but learned differently shortly after Cheu's induction into the Army in 1951.

Cheu started naturalization proceedings but was unable to complete this week that Congress apparently had solved that problem when it passed a law providing for naturalization of members of the armed forces serving overseas.

It will take a while for Cheu to complete his naturalization. In the meantime, he has extended his enlistment a year to stay in Japan with his bride.

Reporter Freed Of Trespass Charge

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—"This court supports free assembly, free speech and the right of free press."

That was the statement Wednesday by Newport Police Court Judge Alfred G. Maybury as he dismissed charges of trespassing and breach of peace against George Bailey, Louisville Courier-Journal photographer.

Bailey was arrested during a raid on the Glenn Schmidt Playatorium on July 1 after he took a picture of Newport Police Chief George Gugel talking with Pete Schmidt, operator of the Playatorium, a combination bar, restaurant and bowling alley.

402 New Casualties Reported For Week

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Defense Department reported Wednesday there were 402 American battle casualties last week in Korea.

The total since the war began was listed as 137,914.

The department said the new list includes 83 killed and 321 wounded.

The number of missing was decreased by two.

Total deaths for all American forces since 1950 stand at 24,685.

U.S.-Japan Mutual Aid Pact Expected Soon

Military Is Emphasized

WASHINGTON (INS)—Japan and the United States are expected to sign a mutual security aid agreement within the next 24 hours, and have a working program in operation within a month. Informed quarters told International News Service Wednesday that opening negotiations on MSA aid between Japan and the U.S. in Tokyo are proceeding "swiftly and smoothly."

An MSA agreement will mark the third major step the United States has undertaken to help Japan militarily since the Japanese regained their full freedom a year ago.

The first was a mutual security treaty with Japan under which the U.S. has kept its own troops in the islands for Japan's protection.

The second was a "loan" of military equipment, including uniforms, to help Japan build up its present 110,000-man National Safety Corps.

The third step will be to add Japan to the program that has helped European democracies build up their armed forces with the aid of American military equipment and training.

The U.S. proposes to spend between 110 and 115 million dollars on helping Japan militarily during the fiscal year 1954, chiefly for light and medium military equipment.

As quickly as an MSA agreement is signed, a special military assistance advisory group is expected to sit down with the Japanese to formulate a broad program based upon:

Japan's needs for an armed safety corps capable of repelling aggression; what Japan can provide to meet this minimum; the share of needed U.S. assistance.

Within 30 days after the signing of an MSA pact, the first shipments to re-equip Japan will begin.

Meanwhile, a U.S. embassy official in Tokyo said Japan's industrial production today exceeds the 1934-36 level by 150 per cent and noted the U.S. has procured from Japan in the 12 months ending June 30, munitions valued at $100 million.

Grier Answer Filed In Rutherford Suit

An answer to a damage suit charging food poisoning against a restaurant owner was filed in U.S. District Court Wednesday by John J. Grier, cafe operator in a railway depot at Burlington, Ia.

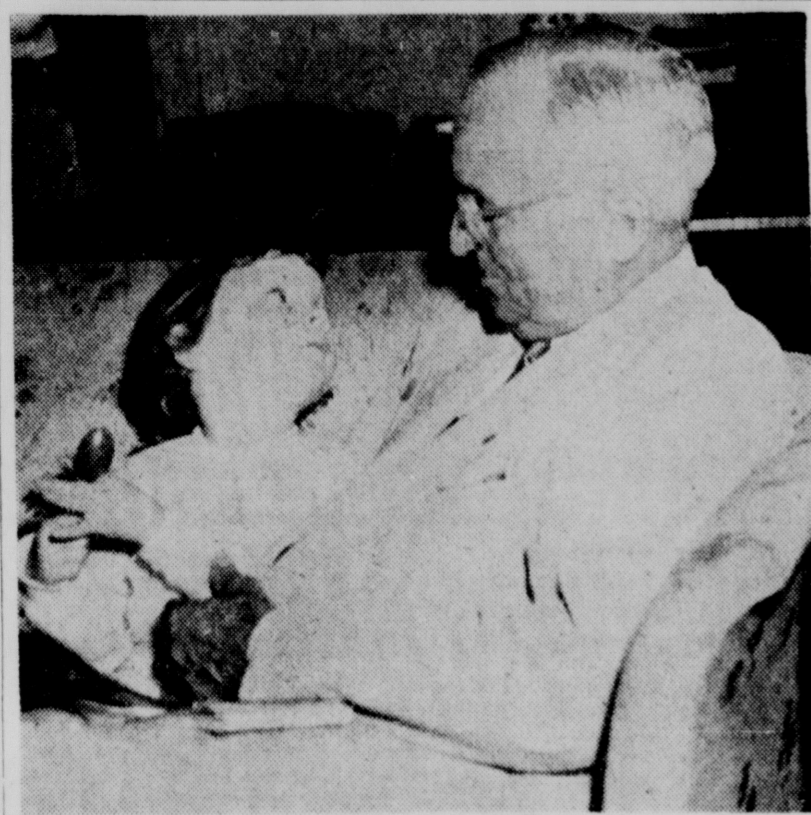

Grier has asked the court to dismiss the petition of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest R. Rutherford, who ask $15,000 in damages allegedly suffered after eating at Grier's cafe.

The Rutherford petition claims that on Feb. 16, 1951, the couple ate at Grier's cafe, and at Creston, Ia., were treated by a doctor and at the Greater Community Hospital for food poisoning. Rutherford alleges he then contracted pneumonia as a result of the food poisoning.

The petition asks $10,000 in damages to Rutherford and $5,000 for damages to his wife.

"AT THE CROSSROADS OF LINCOLN"

To Get On With The Truce

Washington, the news columns said, was notably free from jubilation when word from Korea came that the Communists had accepted Gen. Mark Clark's proposal made near the close of June to proceed with final arrangements for the signing of the Korean armistice without South Korea's participating.

There was the possibility that tough old Syngman Rhee would reconcile himself at the eleventh hour. But for full understanding of the gravity surrounding the Korean negotiations, Mark Childs' column appearing on this page can be most helpful.

It is the hope of the American people, perhaps an unreasonable desire in these times, that the fighting in Korea can be terminated. But the American people in their devotion to peace think in permanent terms—insofar as the word, "permanent," can be used—and not for a few weeks or a few months, conditioned upon commitments, known or unknown.

The amazing development in the truce negotiations is the atmosphere of uneasiness that continues to becloud the thinking of the American people. They were hopeful that this was the real thing—not an interlude—or just another chapter. Unfortunately that thinking still is subject to the whim or the will of an unknown quantity.

Above Expectations

It is such a dour tale of the harvest and of drought that comes from some of Nebraska's neighbors, "Dour" may be an inappropriate word. Are there those in the Middle West whose sympathies go untouched by stories of misfortune?

By the same measure, Nebraskans have every reason to feel good. The State and Federal Crop Reporting Service Tuesday brought the cheerful tidings that as the harvest proceeds in Nebraska, with a fifth of the winter wheat fields harvested, the yields have exceeded expectations. Some other small grains, notably oats, are disappointing. But at this stage the outlook for corn is excellent.

There are a good many strings to Nebraska's bow, thanks to a diversified agricultural program. Year after year the expansion of pump irrigation has moved ahead in gratifying fashion, eliminating in large measure the hazard of drought for irrigated fields. During the good years Nebraskans lost some of the keen edge of their enthusiasm for stabilizing Nebraska economy through a continuously expanding irrigation program. There are limitations to it, of course, limitations arising from water and adaptable soil, but we have not in any sense reached the peak of making the most beneficial use of our soil and water resources. When this is achieved—when farming practices are gauged fully to the latest and the most acceptable methods—a great deal of the gamble which agriculture is will be minimized. We have come a long way and there is still some distance to go.

In terms of 1953 as of these early days of

Of Men And Things

J. K. Brandeberry, field representative of the United States Forest Service stationed in Lincoln, was talking with Max Denney, Gov. Crosby's administrative assistant, Tuesday afternoon at the capitol. Mr. Brandeberry suddenly collapsed. When State Health Director E. A. Rogers arrived after a hasty summons, Mr. Brandeberry was dead.

A comparatively recent newcomer to the state, Mr. Brandeberry's name may not have meant much to thousands of Nebraskans, those unacquainted with him. To this editor he was something special as a friend, a capable, earnest, serious-minded representative of the Forestry Service—those men who live in the open in companionship with the trees and the skies overhead, the men who dedicate their lives certainly to creating a better, a more beautiful world. We have known many of them. We have marvelled at the spirit which is a part of the heart of the Forestry Service, and among the many cherished friends, this editor came to hold Mr. Brandeberry's services in the highest regard. He lived in the world of trees. The forests, the shelterbelts, the woodlot plantings—the trees—were his life. He waged a continuous war against their enemies. He gave hours of study and research to every form of forestry development.

It is not difficult to recognize both the genuine and the artificial when it comes to knowledge of a subject or enthusiasm for it. Mr. Brandeberry's was genuine. This is not to suggest that his interests in everyday life were not wide and diversified, because they were, but among the many foresters we have known, none exceeded this quiet chap who happened to be our companion in hundreds of miles of travel. He gave without stint to his job.

Mr. Brandeberry was one of those men who knew no hours in contributing what he thought fulfilled the responsibilities of public service. A year ago while engaged in the study of Missouri Basin resources, we asked him to aid the Missouri Basin Survey Commission in the preparation of a long-range program dealing with the basin's forestry problems. It presented a complex problem. There were the forested slopes of the mountain areas—the special problems of the central basin region and finally additional concern in the forestry development of the lower Missouri River region. He did a magnificent job in devoted spirit. He was among the first to greet the pink of the eastern skies for an early-morning start involving day-long travel by automobile or other conveyance—among the last to call it a day late at night. We shall miss him. And we shall cherish the memories of a man in government service who brought to his job a flaming enthusiasm for protecting and for adding to the depleted natural wealth of a younger America.

Up With The Rising Sun

The forests have lost one of their best friends. The American people have lost an extremely valuable man.

What actually is in the minds of the Communist world, centered in Moscow—what problems confront that Communist world—and whether the combination of Communist thinking and Communist developments is such as to assure a genuine approach to the problems of peace remains as much a mystery today as it was yesterday.

In short, we gamble. We may say that nothing could be more unacceptable than what had existed in years of stalemate. Yet we are not sure. We do not know fully what the reaction of the Orient will be to the latest developments. If the administration knows, understandably it is not talking. Mr. Childs speaks of the grim atmosphere of the security conference where all possible alternatives were discussed and weighed. In a practical sense we will be worse off if in the end the Orient comes to the conclusion that the United States has abandoned it. We could be in a most unfortunate light if the net results of the Korean truce are spelled out to the world in terms of appeasement.

All this remains to be seen.

For the time being, Americans will settle for the negotiations looking towards a truce, unwilling as they are to place trust fully in Communist good faith until the latter has confirmed its words by deeds.

Fruits Of Hysteria

Hasty action, stemming from panic, frequently requires an embarrassing apology. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who has been harassed almost as badly by members of his own party as by the Communists, found it necessary this week to send the following letter to Author Clarence Streit, copies of whose book "Union Now" were reportedly removed from U.S. overseas libraries:

"I hasten to assure you that the (State) Department never issued orders for the removal of your books. If they were actually removed from some libraries, the action obviously had no bearing on your well-known status as a loyal American citizen.

"I have checked with Dr. Robert J. Johnson, (retiring) director of the International Information Administration, who assures me that no books from the overseas libraries were ordered removed except those by 16 authors who were either known Communists or about whom there was grave public doubt. I regret that mention of removal of your books in connection with these has caused you embarrassment."

More pathetic by far than the letter itself is the fact that Secretary of State Dulles finds it necessary to eat humble pie because of his own unwillingness to combat those who would destroy him. Mr. Dulles regrets his own embarrassment, Mr. Streit may find the letter poor consolation for the injury done to his name, and Sen. Joseph McCarthy has not yet allowed his mocking laughter over this episode to reach the public prints.

Paging Mr. Webster

A professor of chemistry at the University of Saskatchewan, J. W. T. Spinks, told the Humanities Association the other day that he would like to add four new words to the dictionary. The words:

"Mattergy"—to show that matter and energy are not separate quantities, as Einstein has contended right along;

"Chenergy"—a change in energy;

"Chmattery"—a change in matter and energy;

"Spime"—space and time.

Dean Spinks may or may not be wasting his spime with this word-combining, but the thought immediately occurs that the professor himself has a name which goes well with his theory. "Spinks" sounds as if it might be a combination of spelling and thinks, both of which appear to attract his interest.

Juleps And Roads

Southern newspapers have been squabbling over the birthplace of the mint julep, an honor which may be considered questionable but which nonetheless stirs the blood of journalists below the Mason-Dixon line.

The manner in which the mint julep came into being is shrouded in mystery, despite the efforts of newspapermen to create fables about the first julep. When the time comes that editors outdo one another thinking up lies, merely to claim an "honor" for their respective states, the matter has gotten out of hand.

Out here in the Middle West, where the mint julep has never "taken," there are other and more important matters. Around here there isn't time to talk about juleps, with people in one part of the state arguing with people in other parts about which is to get the first and best of roads.

Too Much Too Soon

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby denies reports that she will resign as secretary of health, education and welfare and run for governor of Texas. The speculation is premature, since Texas primaries will not be held until July, 1954, but politics in Washington and Texas are probably nodding their heads at Mrs. Hobby's statement and saying "uh-huh."

Surplus Butter Might Turn Tide In Satellites

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson is accumulating surplus butter at the rate of 12,000,000 pounds a week. That's a lot of butter to be buying weekly, especially when you already have a quarter of a billion pounds on hand; so you can't blame the unenvied Mr. Benson for being one of the most harassed men in the cabinet. Furthermore, butter won't keep indefinitely. Eventually it becomes rancid.

I don't like to be repetitious about this butter question, but I still think we are losing a good bet by not using some of our surplus wheat and butter to fight our battles behind the Iron Curtain. So also, butter is a luxury. So also, the Voice of America—though necessary to fight the cold war. So also are the European posters and other instruments of psychological warfare with which we try to combat Communist propaganda. And if we have enough butter, and it's likely to spoil, there's no reason why we can't make it help fight the cold war, too.

What I refer to is the idea of sending a million loaves of bread and a few thousand pounds of butter to Berlin, preferably to East Berlin, in order to feed the people who have been battling Red tanks with sticks and stones. If the Russians won't let the bread and butter enter East Germany, then the American radio station in Berlin, RIAS, can put them on the spot by blaring the fact behind the Iron Curtain.

Furthermore, all we have to do is put the bread and butter down in West Berlin and let the East Germans come and get it. Several thousand cross back and forth on the subway every day. I have crossed back and forth dozens of times. And it is not too difficult for food, packages, suitcases to be carried across the Iron Curtain, which in Berlin is largely imaginary. As a matter of fact, many East Berliners shop regularly in West Berlin.

The average American feels frustrated as to how he can help in the cold war. Europe is a long way off, and there isn't much he can do about it.

However, if the Department of Agriculture could perhaps work out a system whereby Mr. John Q. Citizen could contribute about $2.21—the support price—for a bushel of wheat and about 70 cents for a pound of butter, and then if the U. S. government would deposit the equivalent in food in Berlin, a lot of our surplus might be used up.

What's more important, we could, for the first time in history, begin to get some people-to-people friendship behind the Iron Curtain—much to the discomfiture of those in the Kremlin who don't want people-to-people friendship.

NOTE—If this worked in East Germany, the effect on Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, would be electrifying. It might prove

MARQUIS CHILDS

Perilous Alternatives Confront The Cabinet

WASHINGTON — In the course of trying to agree on the awesome decisions that must be taken for Europe and Asia, the principal members of the Eisenhower administration put in very long hours. What happened one day recently could not be called typical, but in the demand it made on seven or eight men it is fairly characteristic.

A Cabinet breakfast at 8 a.m., opened with prayer, was the first order of the day. The orange juice had scarcely been served before the President started the discussion of major problems facing the administration. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson talked about his trip to Texas and the serious drought condition in the Southwest.

He told the Cabinet that a condition of near panic had existed among cattle growers who watched ranges wither under the fierce sun while cattle prices dropped. After he detailed the steps his Department had taken to meet the situation and reassuring cattlemen, the President warmly congratulated him.

Quickly the discussion turned to Korea and the difficulty of obtaining a truce in the face of the stubborn opposition of President Syngman Rhee of the South Korean republic. But this discussion was necessarily tentative since the Cabinet breakfast had been arranged at the early hour to make time for a meeting of the National Security Council.

That NSC meeting will rank as one of the most important in that Council's history. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had gone off for a long week end to his retreat, Duck Island in the St. Lawrence River. The undersecretary of state, Walter Bedell Smith, sat in his place. Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, also on a brief vacation, was represented by Deputy Secretary Roger M. Keyes. With President Eisenhower presiding, the Council for nearly four hours wrestled with the dilemma of Korea and the stalemate effort to get a truce. The conclusions reached are, of course, top secret. But the nature of at least two negative decisions can be outlined, since with the turn of events they are likely soon to become public in any event.

First, some of the thinking that influenced the position of the Truman administration on Korea was definitely ruled out. This was to the effect that a continuation of the stalemate, with American troops holding at least part of the line, might be the lesser of many evils in view of America's position of world responsibility. One heard from officials in the previous administration the suggestion of a parallel between the job of the British in defending the frontier of India in the 19th century and the job of America in indefinitely holding back Communism in Korea in the 20th century.

But the commitments of modern war, in terms of men and machines, are so costly that, in view of the men around the table, the analogy does not hold. So prolongation of the stalemate is out.

The second conclusion was that the United States could never allow President Rhee to dictate its foreign and military policy. Therefore, regardless of what turn the truce negotiations take, American forces now in Korea if they fight at full scale again in the Korean peninsula will not be fighting for the Rhee government.

Present at the NSC meeting was Gen. Omar N. Bradley, retiring chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Just four months before, on March 2, Bradley in a major address had outlined the alternatives before the country with respect to Korea. These alternatives, the most drastic being air and naval war against the Chinese mainland, were canvassed.

It is hardly necessary to add that the talk was for the most part of a grim nature. No responsible person in the administration has ever seriously considered acceding to Rhee's demand that the United States automatically resume fighting if agreement on Korea's unification is not reached within 90 days by a political conference to follow a truce.

There is great hesitation on any agreement that would seem to commit this country to fight later in the event of any action that Rhee would decide was aggression against South Korea.

Rhee's demand that the U.N. forces fight to the Yalu River is seen as an invitation to indefinite war not on a limited but on a fairly large scale. Once the Yalu was reached that 800-mile line would have to be garrisoned. Garrisoned by whom? Inevitably, policymakers here believe, American forces would have to take part in that garrisoning.

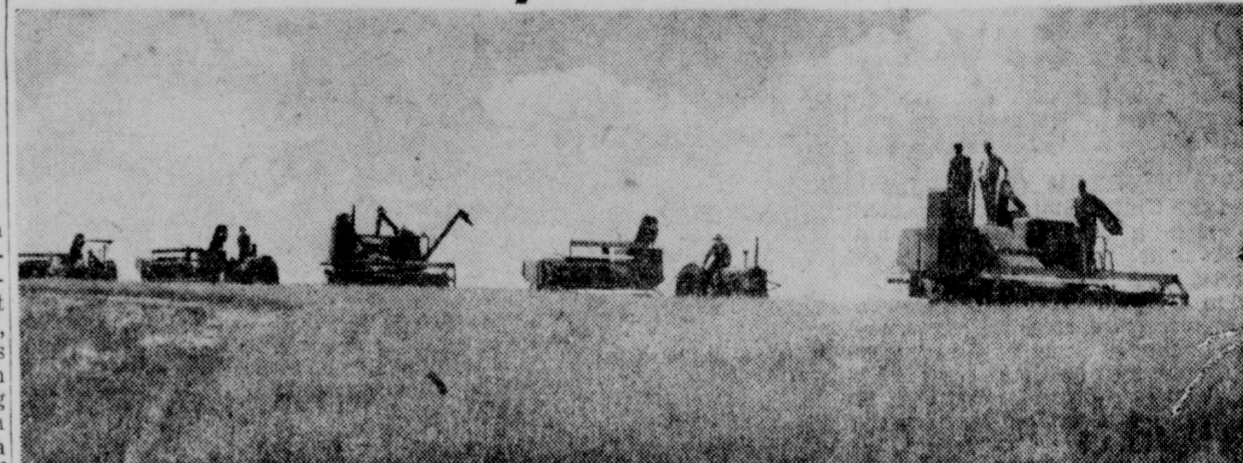

To all concerned, one thing is now painfully obvious. There is no one decision that is right beyond all others. There are only choices which are less perilous than other choices.

Farm Factory Sets New Pattern

CUSTOM CREW COMBINING IN A NEBRASKA FIELD
... production line agriculture is the goal for the future ...

By ALFRED H. SINKS
Condensed From Steelways

THE TWO planes must have flicked the dust from the roof of our car as we ambled down the unpaved farm road. So my guide, Francis Rymalek, pulled over and we got out to watch them.

Each plane left in its wake a white plume which settled in a neat swath across the field. It consisted of millions of buckshot-sized pellets of ammonium nitrate fertilizer for the spinach which had been planted in that 48 acres three weeks before.

A light drift of rain had just started. The radio-telephone in the car began to speak: "Transportation department, transportation department." It was Don McAllister, the general farm manager, speaking. "You can pick up your fertilizer trucks at the airport. They are now empty. Hold your truck that was to take a load of insecticide dust over to southern division. It's raining over there."

McAllister went on picking up all the threads of his far-flung farming operations. There was a clicking and buzzing. He called a number, "Southern division—you listening, Albert? Check up and mark the spot where they stopped dusting that field of lima beans, so we can pick up at the same point tomorrow morning."

His voice cut there on the deserted road made us aware that these planes were performing just one of scores of farm operations going on simultaneously at different points over an area 30 miles across.

Scattered out there were perhaps 1,500 farm employees; division managers, foremen, truck drivers, mechanics, tractor men, field hands—all moving according to plan.

I HAD COME to southern New Jersey knowing that Seabrook Farms, with its headquarters near the city of Bridgeton, was probably the biggest farming and freezing business in the world.

Taking the gamble out of weather was only one of the goals C. F. Seabrook, now head of Seabrook Farms, had in mind when he began learning the business 60-odd years ago on his father's 57-acre truck farm. He, and later his three sons, began a search for means to take some of the risk out of farming so it could grow like other industries.

To find those answers they had to plow deep—deeper than most students of farm problems have cared to go. But out of the search the four Seabrooks finally designed a radical new pattern of farming.

It isn't just farming on a bigger, more mechanized scale. It's farming reconstructed from the bottom up, engineered to use everything science, research and mass production methods can contribute to make food growing an efficient, stable business. Such a business can pay wages comparable with most industries and keep a big proportion of its employees working the year round. Actually it is a brand new industry, in which farm and factory are tied together in one continuous production line.

WHAT MAKES production line farming different from ordinary farming is not the fact that a lot of machinery is used. It is the way it is used. When the boys plant a corn field there is a parade of machines. The big front-bottom plow, double disc harrow, corn planter and fertilizer spreader are all out there moving across the field at one time.

As its work is finished, each machine moves on to the next field. Thus four operations are done in less time than it would take most farmers just to plow.

Production line methods, cost control, applied research—do they pay in farming? It is estimated that the cost of producing peas at Seabrook Farms is 9 cents per pound, while the average cost in all other areas is several cents higher. What becomes of the small farmer who doesn't have the technology or research facilities to achieve this kind of result?

"We don't hurt the little fellow—just the opposite!" Ray insists. "In fact we need him, for it wouldn't be practical under one centralized management for us to grow as much food as we can process."

How does the big, ultra-modern farmer help his smaller neighbor? Well, for one thing, by providing a dependable market for his crop. I talked to one contractor who, in addition to raising about 300 acres of beans for the big outfit, keeps a prize dairy herd. Some are also poultrymen or fruit growers. But the contract is responsible for removing a good part of the risk from their farm operations.

There are other benefits for the independent farmer, too. He can use the know-how developed through the company's research and experimentation. In fact Ray sees the big farm as a kind of pilot plant for the hundreds of little ones around it. He says that as a result of research in peas, for instance, contractors are now getting 80 per cent more yield per acre!

Then there's machinery. A small farmer-neighbor can come in and borrow or rent a machine which would be too much of an investment for his smaller farm. Or the big outfit may send out a crew and harvest his crop for him. It has been costing independent contractors about $6 a ton to harvest sweet corn. But last year Seabrook was able to do it for them at a cost of $3.41.

Perhaps then, this is the pattern of the future: a few big farm-factories with a lot of little farms around them, living together as partners and good neighbors.

ED FITZHUGH

Woman's Work, 'Tis Said, Is Never Done

My wife likes to mow the lawn.

This is a statement a less courageous man than I would hesitate to make. Social ostracism is the least penalty which can be expected after a declaration of this kind. It violates tradition, confuses common belief and runs contrary to the teachings of those great arbiters of human behavior, the comic artists.

Had I known when we contemplated marriage that she liked to mow the lawn, and could be as stubborn about it as she is, I would have left her at the altar and become a beach comber. That way, there would have been no lawn problem. Just sad fleas.

"Everybody in town," I have told her time and again, "will think that the male members of your family are lazy, shiftless and no-good."

I have never liked the way she said, "Well?" in reply.

I tried to induce her to take up blacksmithing in place of lawn mowing. Blacksmithing could be done in the basement, beyond the public view. She was enthusiastic about the idea until the equipment was installed. Then the only thing she used it for was to sharpen the lawn mower.

As a final, desperate measure I padlocked the machine to a large tree stump, which we have been saving in the garage for use as a Yule log next Christmas. I pocketed the key and departed for work, sure that at last the grass could grow unmolested for 24 hours.

There was a troubled look on Mrs. F.'s face when she met me at the front door that evening. "Did you know that our Yule log is chained to the lawn mower?" she demanded.

I nodded, chortling. "I couldn't find the key to the padlock," she said suspiciously. "It was in my pocket," I assured her.

"Well, you'd better leave it home next time," she announced, "or you'll have a big bill for landscaping the yard!"

"How come?" she said grimly, "makes awfully big bumps in the lawn, jolting along behind the lawn mower!"

The infernal machine is free of its chains again now, and the neighbors are looking at me with dark suspicion, and there's only one thing left. I'll have to mow the lawn myself.

Gas Funds Of $1 Million To Counties

After deducting $52,462 in agricultural refunds from the $2,544,095 collected in June gas tax, State Treasurer Frank Heintz distributed $1,029,355 for county road improvement and $1,441,098 for the entire state highway system.

The counties got $617,613 in regular funds and $411,742 in rural and star route mail funds.

Justice Simmons Hears British Privy Council Findings

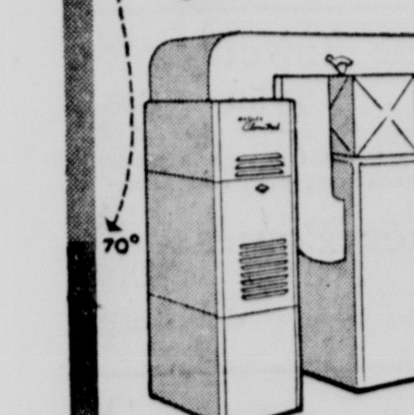

LONDON (AP)—Robert G. Simmons, chief justice of the Nebraska Supreme Court, listened to an appeal case before the judicial committee of Britain's Privy Council.

Justice Simmons is in this country for a week studying the British judicial system. Later, he plans to visit Pakistan, India and Ceylon to meet judges and lawyers of those countries. The Privy Council is Britain's highest judicial appeal body.

Phys Ed Called Aid In Woman Freeing

By L. J. ZAJICEK
Star Staff Writer

American women owe a great deal of their emancipation to the assembly lines of education, a St. Louis high school educational and guidance counselor told The Star during a visit in Lincoln.

Miss Blanche Higgins, who will return to the Solder-Blewett High School of St. Louis in September, is visiting at 2100 South with her sisters, Miss Cora and Jennie Higgins and Mrs. James A. Haskins.

A 1919 University of Nebraska graduate with a degree in physical education, Miss Higgins thinks one of the major factors contributing to emancipation was the change in the physical education field.

Recalling that physical education in 1919 was little more than "a lot of Swedish and German gymnastic drills," Miss Higgins pointed out that "today physical education has done away with much of the formal type drill activities."

More Sports Interest

This change in physical education emphasizing golf, tennis, hockey, soccer and dancing has meant in turn, she said, an increasing interest in all sports and related activities by women.

About the only women's sports participation for which she drew a line was football.

"Hockey or soccer are better games for girls to play," she said. (Many junior colleges in California have organized girl-football teams.)

And as physical education has

changed, "I have reversed my own thinking too," she said.

In the first place, she continued, physical education graduates in 1919 were taught not to take any other course or to teach anything else after graduation. Consequently, she explained somewhat ruefully, she went to a physical education post in a St. Louis elementary school.

Miss Higgins taught at the school for two years and then in 1921 moved to Solder-Blewett, where she has remained, except for an assignment in 1941-42 at Roosevelt High School as an instructor of first aid conferences. She received her masters degree in physical education from Northwestern University in 1931.

Math, English Help

A degree in physical education is fine, she said, but a minor in something like English or mathematics will always aid any teacher.

Teachers in physical education are especially valuable in counseling because they meet students more informally, she said.

For instance, she continued, some students are not book-minded and would do much better in technical high schools.

Summing up her work, she said, "it's interesting and most of the time encouraging."

City Council Given Report Of Parking In Des Moines, Ia.

Des Moines, Ia., may have the solution to Lincoln's parking problems.

City Finance Director Theo Berg and Fred Wells, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce traffic and parking committee, reported to the City Council on the operation of city-owned parking lots in the Iowa city.

The Des Moines lots were authorized by the Iowa State Legislature and constructed with a $1,250,000 general obligation bond issue.

The municipally-owned lots are leased by private operators.

High Court Gets Fentiman's Appeal On Sodomy Verdict

Norman C. Fentiman, who was found guilty of sodomy by a jury in District Court, filed transcript of appeal on a petition in error in the State Supreme Court.

Imposing of sentence was postponed until Aug. 11 after a motion for a new trial was denied in order to permit him to go to Washington, D. C., to attend a hearing at which he seeks to get an honorable military discharge. He was given an undesirable discharge for an alleged offense similar in character to the one of which he was found guilty here.

Filing of the appeal petition was unusual in that normally such action is not taken until after sentence is imposed. Charles Ledwith is attorney for Fentiman.

Hoyt Urges Co-operation In Farm Safety Week

State Agriculture Director Ed Hoyt Wednesday urged Nebraska farm folk to co-operate in the national observance of Farm Safety Week, July 19-25.

Both President Eisenhower and Governor Crosby have issued Farm Safety Week proclamations.

Hoyt said special attention should be given to the hazards in connection with operation of farm equipment.

Miss Clara Sloan Dies Here At 52

Miss Clara Sloan, 52, 148 So. 27th, died in a local hospital Wednesday evening. She had been hospitalized since June 23.

Surviving is an aunt, Mrs. Dave Sloan of Wilber.

The body was taken to a Wilber funeral home.

Another Ball Field Planned For Belmont

Development of a second softball diamond is being planned on newly acquired property of the Belmont Community Center, reported Chester Dill, center director.

The center has purchased two lots at the extreme east end of the playground from the Butler Avenue Congregational Church which extends play area about 60 feet.

Dill said work on the new diamond probably will begin in fall and be ready for use by spring. At present there is one diamond at the west end of the area.

Tentative plans for placing more flood lights on the east end

Chicago Rites Held For Mrs. E. Green

Funeral services were held in Chicago for Mrs. Elmer Green, 84, of Chicago.

Mrs. Green moved to Chicago from Lincoln about 20 years ago. She was the wife of the late Elmer E. Green, former Lincoln post-office employee.

Mrs. Green was a member of the Lincoln Women's Club, Women's Relief Corps, Bide-a-Wee Kensington and Grace Methodist Church.

Survivors are two sons, Grady and Lloyd of Chicago; and one sister, Mrs. George Barr of Los Angeles.

are being considered for next summer, Dill added.

About 60 to 80 children use the playground each evening.

Heberlee Gives Plea Of Guilty In Rape Case

Buddy Gene Heberlee of 1328 O, pleaded guilty to a charge of rape before Acting Lancaster County Judge Ralph Slocom Wednesday afternoon and was bound over to District Court under $5,000 bond.

Heberlee, who gave his age as 20, asked for "immediate arraignment" in District Court, according to Lancaster County Attorney Frederick Wagener who filed the complaint.

The arraignment will probably be sometime Thursday, according to deputy county attorneys. Judge John Polk is presiding over the only Lancaster District Court now in session.

Charges against Heberlee said the act was done "forcibly and against her will" to a 17-year-old tavern waitress early Tuesday morning. The complaint filed also said the minor was found previously chaste, which brings the case under a statute providing from three to 20 years in prison as penalty.

Sheriff's deputies came upon a parked car near 27th and Superior early Tuesday morning, found the girl and took her to St. Elizabeth Hospital. She was later released to her family physician.

The girl's statement alleges that she left her place of employment, a tavern in downtown Lincoln, and accompanied Heberlee. She was driving a car belonging to a friend. Her statement says she escaped from the car, Heberlee ran after her, hit her in the face, and then drove her out onto a county road.

Two Men Living As Man And Wife Fined In Court

Two men, one dressed as a woman with lipstick and all, were fined the maximum of $100 in Municipal Court Wednesday for disorderly conduct following complaints they were living together as an unmarried couple.

The two, Ray Vastine, 23, and Gerald Ivan Bell, 23, had been rooming together at 1336 O St., where they had lived the past three weeks, according to the police. Vastine worked as cook and Bell as waitress at a local coffee shop.

Bell appeared in court with a new application of lipstick and, along with Vastine, changed pleas of not guilty to guilty, and were fined the legal limit of $100 by Judge John Jacobson.

Wilkinson Services To Be Held Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Mildred Wilkinson, 45, of Hallam will be held at 11 a.m. Friday at Wadlow's Chapel.

Mrs. Wilkinson, a resident of Hallam for 10 years, died in Lincoln Wednesday.

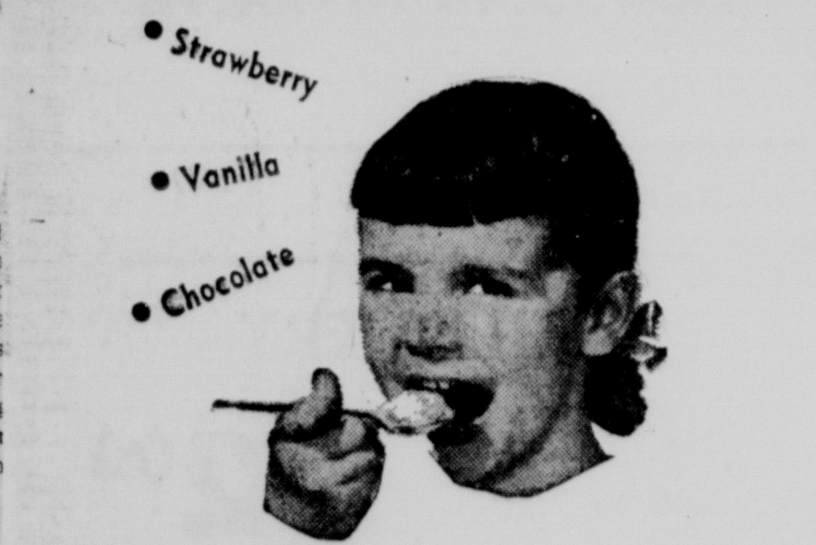

The Rev. R. H. Kirk of Hallam will officiate at the services. Burial will be at Floris, Ia.

Mrs. Wilkinson was a member of the Floris Christian Church.

Survivors are her husband, Edward; five daughters, Mrs. Marvin Busch of Lincoln, Mrs. Robert E. Olson in Germany, Mrs. Dorothea Werkmeister, Beverly and Kaye, all of Hallam; two sons, Gary and Marvin of Hallam; mother, Mrs. Effie Strickland of Floris; six sisters, Mrs. Lucy Thompson, Mrs. LaVelle McClure and Mrs. Blanche Wilkinson, all of Floris; Mrs. Addie Thompson and Mrs. Irene O'Brien of Ottumwa, Ia.; and Mrs. Ida Fisk of Bloomfield, Ia.; two brothers, Leon Bengé of Douds, Ia. and three grandchildren.

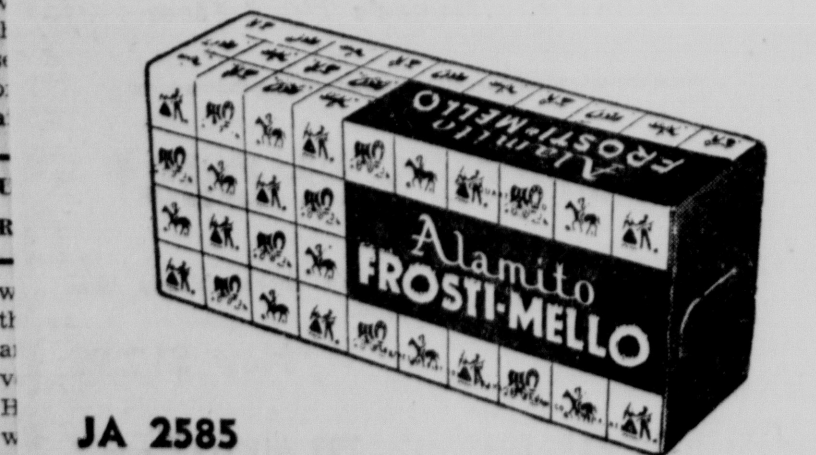

Phone Hearing Set

Hearing of the Consolidated Telephone Co., Mullen, for a rate increase and new financing has been scheduled for July 30 at Mullen, the State Railway Commission announced Wednesday.

Modern New Look Arising From Hebron Storm Ruins

25 Firms Repaired In Two Months

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

HEBRON, Neb.—A low, modern "new look" is riding out of the ruins of one of the worst tornadoes in Nebraska history as businessmen and home-owners find that enthusiasm and faith in one's community can be catching.

Just two months have passed since a late Saturday night twister swept through Hebron smashing scores of homes and business buildings. The tragedy cost five lives, left more than 250 persons homeless and caused an estimated $2,000,000 in damage.

The change that has been worked in Hebron since the disaster stands as an impressive example of how quickly and how well a city can come back after a seemingly crushing blow. More than 25 businesses which were struck by the storm have been rebuilt or repaired and the number of new houses being built—aside from those repaired or rebuilt—numbers even higher.

Lower Look

The biggest story of Hebron's comeback, however, concerns the changes in the city that will come out of the disaster. The downtown section will take on a new and lower look.

Second and third stories will be removed from several buildings on either side of Lincoln Ave., the main thoroughfare.

After a brief flurry of controversy, the battered tower of the Thayer County Courthouse will be torn down. Some residents of the county, including many older persons, objected to removing the tower which had been a landmark here for decades.

The Hebron High School, destroyed, will be rebuilt, and the Catholic Church, also demolished, will be built as soon as contracts for construction have been let.

The most noticeable change in the Hebron skyline is the removal of the three-story Ring Building which stood on a main intersection on Lincoln Ave. The structure—partially vacant even before the tornado—has completely disappeared. Bulldozers now scrape up the final bricks from the old building on the newly created vacant lot. No plans for rebuilding on the lot have been announced.

The second story of a business building next to the site of the Ring building will be torn off, leaving a single-story brick building. The same alteration is expected for several buildings on the south side of the street.

One of the swiftest building ers of the Ford garage. The old garage was completely ruined in the twister, and in its place a large brick and steel garage will soon be ready for reopening.

Plans to remove the courthouse tower became final when inspectors declared that if Thayer County were to retain a tower on the courthouse an entirely new tower would have to be built. The old tower, made dangerous by tornado damage, would definitely have to go, according to the inspectors.

The courthouse will receive a simple flat roof which has the approval of many persons. As leaving a single-story brick building, Hebron Mayor Ralph Hawkins put it, "The pigeons can find it."

DAY AFTER TORNADO

TWO MONTHS AFTER TORNADO

THE CHANGE IN TWO MONTHS—Former sight-seers who visited rubble-strewn Hebron after the tornado two months ago would be impressed by the result of the clean-up and build-up campaign that has gone on since. The above fronts of a lumber yard and small business building—shown after the tornado and again two months later—are a good example of the success of the campaign. (Star Staff Photos.)

One businessman said that owners of some business property are reluctant to invest heavily in new construction because of the fear that taxes will be correspondingly increased.

But with or without the brighter aspects of the reconstruction no one denies that a big task still lies ahead. The bulldozers and carpenters' hammers will continue for a long time to be heard through the city; Hebron has taken an extended vacation from the role of the quiet country town.

The courthouse will receive a simple flat roof which has the approval of many persons. As leaving a single-story brick building, Hebron Mayor Ralph Hawkins put it, "The pigeons can find it."

The same alteration is expected for several buildings on the south side of the street.

State Co-operation For Making No. 3 U.S. Road Assured

Should the Missouri Highway Department take action to have their State Highway No. 4 designated as a federal highway, State Engineer L. N. Riss said Wednesday that he will co-operate in the request by asking that No. 3 in Nebraska, an extension of the same road, be similarly designated.

"Nebraska is not in a position to take the lead in asking for designation of No. 3 as a federal highway," Riss explained. "One of the requirements of such change is adequate facilities. Some sections of the road in Nebraska are in a horrible situation."

Advocates of the plan would have it designated U.S. 136, a highway that starts in Indianapolis, Ind., and would end at the Edison junction of U.S. 6 and 34. Riss said that marking would have to stop there as not more than two U.S. highways are approved to follow the same route.

Highway No. 3 boosters at a recent meeting in Fairbury said the Missouri Highway Commission is taking action in behalf of the change. However, Riss says he has been informed by Missouri that they have taken on action.

COME SEE HOW TO MAKE YOUR DRIVING UP TO DATE

On your first ride you'll find that Lincoln brings you up to date in more ways than styling. True, Lincoln's long, slim lines offer welcome escape from the bloated bodies of cars designed like yesterday. But Lincoln also brings you a new kind of performance, with both astonishing action and faultless efficiency built into its new 205-horsepower engine.

For in a Lincoln, you're driving the 1-2-3-4 winner among stock cars of the Mexican Pan-American Race, considered the world's toughest test of motoring stamina. At the same time you're driving the fine car champion of the 1953 Mobilgas Economy Run.

And to make your modern driving even more exciting, you can have the wonderful ease of power brakes, power steering, and the 4-way power seat. Truly Lincoln is the one fine car designed for modern living—completely powered for modern driving. Make a date for a drive in the new Lincoln soon.

Power steering, 4-way power seat, power brakes, sea-tint glass, and white side-wall tires optional at extra cost. Don't miss the big television hit, "TOAST OF THE TOWN" with Ed Sullivan. Sunday evening, 6:00 to 7:00. Station KMTV, Channel 3.

Edison Mechanic Is Killed In Mishap

Graning Car Hits Ditch At Arapahoe

ARAPAHOE, Neb. (P)—Wayne E. Graning, 24, Edison, Neb., implement firm mechanic, was killed Wednesday when his car plunged off U. S. Highway 6 about six miles east of here.

Graning was alone when his car left the highway, went into a ditch, swerved back across the road again, then rammed into a bank before rolling end over end.

Arapahoe Marshal Don Hess and State Safety Patrolmen from Holdrege investigated the accident. They reported that a trucker following Graning reached the scene and found the victim partially hanging out of the wrecked car. Furnas County Attorney Paul Pettygrove, acting as coroner, said Graning suffered a crushed skull and broken right leg.

Survivors include his wife, a two-year-old son, mother, Mrs. Laura Graning of Arapahoe, one brother and one sister.

The death brought Nebraska's 1953 traffic toll to 123 as compared with 155 on July 8, 1952.

Mrs. A. J. Chinlund Dies; Pastor's Wife

OMAHA (P)—Mrs. Alma J. Chinlund, 81, wife of a prominent retired Omaha minister, died Wednesday at her home following a three months illness.

Her husband, the Rev. Emil G. Chinlund, had previously served for 25 years as director of the Immanuel Deaconess Institute.

Mrs. Chinlund was born in Chicago, Ill., had been active in church work and was treasurer for 17 years of the Women's Missionary Society of the Nebraska conference of the Augustana Lutheran Church.

The couple celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in 1951.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m., with burial at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Custer County Fair Plans Under Way

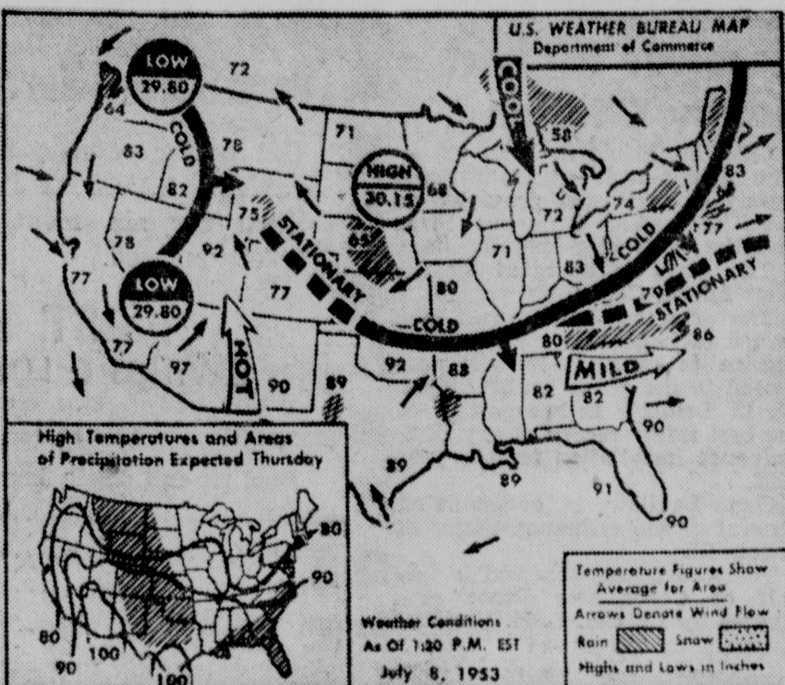

BROKEN BOW, Neb. (P)—Wheels have started turning for preparations leading up to the Custer County fair and Elks rodeo here Aug. 25-28.

Booster trips have been scheduled for a number of communities in the vicinity including Arapahoe, Callaway, Oconto, Eddyville, Sumner, Mason City, Litchfield, Loup City, Arcadia, Cornstock, Sargent, Ansley, Merna, Anselmo, Halsey, Seneca, Thedford and Mullen.

Proposed Falls City Budget Drops $8,378

FALLS CITY, Neb. (P)—The Falls City 1953-54 budget has been reduced by $8,378.

The proposed budget, figuring anticipated financial needs for the city, totals $467,182.

PLAINS TO GET WARMER WEATHER—Widely scattered thunderstorms are forecast for Thursday in the Rocky Mountain states, the southeast states and Texas. It will be fair to partly cloudy in the rest of the nation. Warmer weather is expected in the central Plains and the western Lakes areas while a trend to cooler is forecast for the Middle Atlantic states, New England and the northern Rockies. Auburn, Valley York Man Names Highway Jobs As Planned

Highways in the city limits of Auburn and Valley will be improved, State Engineer L. N. Ress said Thursday.

Four intersections of U.S. 73-33 in Auburn will be resurfaced with bituminous material and widened from 24 feet to 30 feet. Intersections include those at 9th, 10th, 15th and 16th streets.

The state law provides that in cities with population between 2,500 and 25,000 the State Highway Department may pay up to half the cost of extraordinary maintenance of a 24-foot State highway. Therefore, 12/30 of the cost of the 30-foot project will be paid from state highway funds and 18/30 from city funds.

The contract for paving No. 93, Gardner St., in Valley has been awarded to Booth and Olson, Inc., of Sioux City, Iowa.

The firm's bid of $37,761.60 was the only bid submitted at a June 23 letting.

The project will be financed with city funds matched with Federal-Aid Secondary highway funds. The State Highway Department acted as contracting agent for the financing agencies.

Concrete 39 feet wide including curbing will be built for three-tenths of a mile from Spruce St. east to the turn south toward Venice. Sewer improvement work is included in the paving.

Brooks Re-elected Head Of Schools At McCook

MCCOOK, Neb. (P)—Ralph G. Brooks, McCook, Neb., superintendent of schools, has been re-elected to a three year term by the McCook Board of Education.

Brooks is now serving in his seventh year at McCook. In his position, Brooks also serves simultaneously as president of McCook College.

Lebanon Worker Killed In Mishap

PHILLIPSBURG, Kan. (AP)—Raymond Scott Bennett, 23, Lebanon, Neb., was killed Wednesday when a dirt moving machine overturned on him at the Kirwin Dam construction project near here.

Bennett, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bennett, had gone to work on the project a week ago after his discharge from the Army.

The body was taken to Danbury, Neb. Funeral services will be held at Lebanon.

Miss Breen Retires After 22 Years on NU Nurse School Faculty

OMAHA (P)—Miss Mercedes Marie Breen, medical and surgical nursing instructor at the University of Nebraska school of nursing for 22 years, has retired.

A graduate of Columbia University and the New York Postgraduate Hospital, Miss Breen has been at the university continuously since 1935 and previously had four more years there. She also served as director of Omaha's St. James Orphanage from 1929 to 1932.

New Hospital Proposed For Polk Countians

OSCEOLA, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Polk County Commissioners authorized a special election for the county on the issue of floating bonds in the amount of $150,000 to build a hospital.

The election will be held on Sept. 15. If the bond issue is passed by the voters, plans are to build the hospital in Osceola.

At the present time, two hospitals are located in the county. They include the Osceola City Hospital and a private hospital in Stromsburg.

The need for the hospital has been emphasized following the withdrawal of the Order of St. Bernadine Sisters from the Osceola Hospital leaving the county without laboratory and technical services.

House Committee Okays Excess Profits Tax Extension

WASHINGTON (INS) — The House Ways and Means Committee over-rode Chairman Daniel A. Reed Wednesday to approve an excess profits tax extension bill and Reed promptly charged that the White House exerted heavy pressure to prevent a tax reduction.

Reed's committee also rejected a proposal to make a personal income tax cut effective Oct. 1 instead of Jan. 1 as scheduled. He had offered this compromise to President Eisenhower, but the Chief Executive turned it down. The tax-writing group's flouting of its chairman was regarded as a victory for Mr. Eisenhower.

In a formal statement, Reed declared after the meeting that the GOP had repudiated its campaign promises to reduce taxes.

The New York Republican said: "Seldom before in our legislative history has so much pressure been applied by the White House to deny the people of this nation a much-deserved tax reduction."

The committee also:

1. Approved by voice vote the President's "must" legislative proposal for simplifying customs regulations and procedures.
2. Voted 15 to 10 for a bill by Rep. Richard Simpson (R-Pa.) to write restrictive provisions into the Reciprocal Trade Act which both House and Senate voted to extend for one year. The administration favored the simple extension bill, now in Senate-House conference, but opposes the Simpson amendments.

Sen. Liebers Is Resources, Inc. Director

Sen. Otto H. Liebers of Lincoln's 18th district has been named a new member of the board of directors of Resources for the Future, Inc., a nonprofit corporation supported by the Ford Foundation for research and education in conservation and development of national resources.

Selection of Liebers was made by the directorate of the resources organization, including Horace M. Albright, New York, president of the United States Potash Company, Inc., chairman, and University of Nebraska Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, president-elect.

As a member of the resources board, Sen. Liebers representing agriculture, will assist with executive decisions on what research and educational projects the fund will sponsor. Resources for the Future, Inc., is sponsoring as one of its first projects a mid-century conference on resources to be held in Washington Dec. 2 through 4.

Surety Bond Ruling

The attorney general's office ruled that if an abstractor has filed surety bond in the county where his principal office is located, he may not be prosecuted for failure to file bond in other counties where he operates.

County Attorney Forrest Johnson of Fremont requested the opinion.

Cornhusker Plant Receives Highest Safety Citation

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — The highest award of the National Safety Council was presented to the Cornhusker Ordnance Plant and the contractor-operator here.

The plant is operated by the Silas Mason Co.

The commendation was the award of honor for distinguished service to safety. It was presented to the plant by Brig. Gen. W. E. Laidlaw in recognition of the best safety record of any U. S. ordnance installation for the year 1952.

Gen. Laidlaw is commanding general of the ordnance center at Joliet, Ill.

The award was received in behalf of Cornhusker Plant employees by Lt. Col. L. H. Prather, commanding officer of the plant.

Seward, Bellwood Don't Plan To Protest 2-Train Drop

City Council members in Seward and Bellwood have decided to "remain neutral" concerning the application of the Burlington Railroad to the State Railway Commission asking discontinuance of trains 120 and 121 operating between Lincoln and Columbus.

Mayor George Thomas of Seward reported that the Council and the local Chamber of Commerce had decided to "let the Commission do as it pleases."

Council member O. A. Brandenburg of Bellwood said that at a meeting this week, the members left the question of a protest open.

"Naturally, if there was a united protest from the towns on the line we would join in," Brandenburg explained.

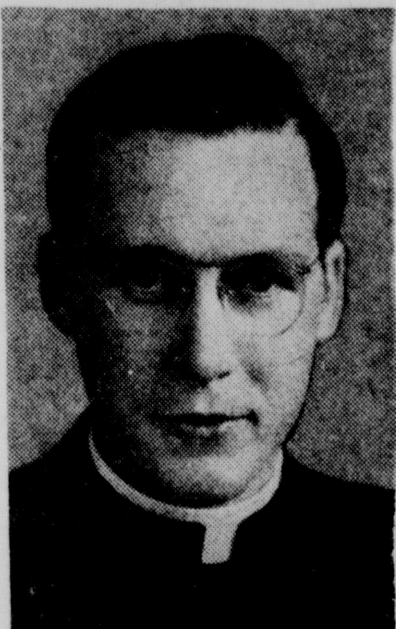

The Railway Commission indicated it will authorize the discontinuance of the trains on July 22 if there are no objections from "interested parties."

In filing application to drop the trains, the Burlington said operation was now resulting in a $1,000 a month loss. The trains had been largely financed by a mail contract. But this was cancelled May 1 of this year when the government switched to rural delivery on the route.

The railroad proposes to attach an accommodation car to freight trains operating daily except Sunday to handle passengers, cream, and express, the commission said.

Letters explaining the railroad's application have been sent to all towns on the line. The towns include Bellwood, Seward, Columbus, Woodlawn, Malcolm, Garland, David City, Staplehurst, Ulysses, and Garrison.

Plans August Wedding

MISS PATRICIA ANN SAILING

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sailing of Wymore are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Thomas A. Hopkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hopkins of Weeping Water. An August wedding is planned.

Interesting News Today

The mailman has been working over-time these days, keeping up posted on the many informal courtesies complimenting summer brides-elect, and this morning he brought us an especially interesting item—news of a stag party honoring a bridegroom-elect.

For tomorrow evening, Miss Elizabeth Bedell's fiancé, George Nelson Strubinger Jr. of Philadelphia, Pa., will be the guest of honor when his best man, Frank Leary Jr., will be host to friends of the potential bridegroom at the home of his mother, Mrs. Frank Leary.

This evening, Dr. and Mrs. L. V. Gibson will be dinner host and hostess at the University Club complimenting Miss Bedell, Mr. Strubinger, and their families. Dr. Gibson will give Miss Bedell in marriage.

Miss Bedell and Mr. Strubinger will be married Saturday morning, July 11, at Blessed Sacrament Church and the wedding reception will be held at the home of Mrs. Bedell that afternoon between the hours of 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock.

Honoring Mr. Strubinger and his bride upon their arrival in Philadelphia will be Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson Strubinger, who have issued invitations for a reception in their home on July 15.

Miss Shirley Lux, whose marriage to James Carlson will be solemnized on Saturday morning, July 11, at Holy Family Church, is today announcing the members of her bridal party. Mrs. John Lowe will attend her sister as matron of honor, and Mrs. Weldon Cook will be bridesmaid. Bridesmaids will be Miss Janet Selden, and flower girl will be Miss Laurie Lux, niece of the bride-elect.

TOWN TALK HAS it that if we thought yesterday was guest day in the news we had a surprise in store for us this morning—More guests, more courtesies—more everything—including homecomers—and travelers—

UNDERSTAND that several informal courtesies have been planned for Mrs. Gerald Whelan who, with her two daughters, Christine and Margaret, arrived from Hastings a few days ago for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kellison—Mrs. Whelan is the former Virginia Kellison—Kappa Alpha Theta at Nebraska.

FROM BURLINGTON, Ia., have come Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jones (the former Mary Adelaide Hansen) and their four children, Norman III, Jessica

Ann, Betsy and Sarah, who are spending two weeks as the guests of Mrs. Jones' mother, Mrs. Elmer Hansen.

WE TOLD YOU several days ago that Mr. and Mrs. George Peterman and their children, Lynn and Gary, were coming from Wyoming, O. (suburb of Cincinnati) for a two-weeks visit with Mrs. Peterman's mother, Mrs. H. C. Mardis, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Beachly. Well—the Peterman foursome has arrived, and of course there are courtesies—One of them will be on Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Beachly entertain in courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Peterman—and the second week-end affair complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Peterman is the buffet supper for which Mrs. H. C. Mardis will be hostess on Sunday evening at her home.

ARRIVING Wednesday evening from Burlington, Vt., was Miss Betsy Borgmann, who will remain through the week-end as the house guest of Miss Kay Riddle. Miss Borgmann is the daughter of President Carl Borgmann of the University of Vermont, and former dean of faculties at the University of Nebraska, and Mrs. Borgmann.

On Friday morning the young guest will be honored when Miss Judy Chapman and Miss Riddle are hostesses at a brunch at the home of Miss Chapman.

AND HAD you heard that Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fox and their daughters, Kathy and Suzanne, have come from Beatrice for a visit with Mrs. Fox's parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Pierson. Hear that eventually the Fox foursome will go on to Lake Okoboji for a brief holiday, but so far there are no definite plans.

THEN WE learned that Miss Elizabeth Paine of Grand Island, who had been spending several days as the house guest of Miss Barbara Beechner, left on Tuesday to return to her home.

AMONG THE travelers we had in mind is Miss Dorris Newman who, accompanied by Miss Jan Schmidtman of Plattsmouth, will leave Sunday morning to do a bit of apartment hunting in Pueblo, Colo., where both will teach in the elementary schools next year. From Pueblo Miss Newman and Miss Schmidtman will go to Denver to spend a few days as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Newman, before going on to Scottsbluff where they will attend the wedding of Miss DaMaris Riddell and Donald Bradley, which takes place on July 25. After Scottsbluff the next stop is home.

PTA Board To Convene

A mid-summer meeting of the executive committee of the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers board of managers will be held at the Hotel Cornhusker in Lincoln all day Thursday, July 16, opening with a 10 o'clock morning session.

Dr. Galen Saylor, president of the state congress, will preside at the meetings of the executive committee and at the meeting of the board of managers to convene at 10 o'clock, Friday morning, July 17.

Also on Thursday, July 16, the directors of the thirteen state districts of the Nebraska PTA will meet at 1:30 o'clock at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Executive committee members include Mrs. P. S. Carter of Omaha, first vice president; Mrs. H. J. Gakle, Norfolk, second vice president; Mrs. William Haslett, Scottsbluff, recording secretary; and Mrs. Harold Morehead, Omaha, treasurer.

State PTA district directors are Mrs. Rees Preston, Nebraska City, district I; Mrs. T. H. McKenney, Omaha, district II; Mrs. W. W. Mahon, Hoskins, district III; Mrs. A. W. Soren-say Boyd of Converse College, Spartanburg, S.C., recently directed the efforts of the AAUW in recommending 17 qualified American women for appointments in government administration, including Oveta Culp Hobby, Ivy Baker Priest, Clare Boothe Luce and Dorothy Houghton.

Mrs. Orme is the first Nebraskan to receive an appointment on a national AAUW committee. A former instructor in English and dramatics, she received her masters degree at the University of Nebraska, and has attended Colorado A and M College, Ft. Collins, Colo., and the University of Washington.

A former president of the Nebraska Council of Women's State Organizations, past president of the Lincoln Inter-Club Council and the Lincoln Teachers Association, Mrs. Orme attended the Mid-Century Whitehouse Conference on Children and Youth. Currently chairman of the Nebraska AAUW advisory committee, she has served as president of the state organization and of the Lincoln branch.

Mrs. Orme is serving her second term as a member of the Lincoln city council.

MRS. E. W. ORME

Wedding In Maryland

MR. AND MRS. L. B. DAY JR.

Arrangements of white gladioli and peonies appointed the chancel of St. Paul's chapel at the U.S. naval base, Bainbridge, Md., for the marriage of Miss Patricia Diane Means, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Means of Sherman Oaks, Calif., formerly of Lincoln, and L. B. Day Jr., son of the late Judge and Mrs. L. B. Day, which took place Friday afternoon, June 19. In the presence of a small group of friends and members of the family, Chaplain Mark Thompson read the lines of the double ring ceremony.

Attending her cousin as matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Berkemeier of Rushville, Ind., who wore a colonial frock of pink organdy and carried a nosegay of pink roses.

Lawrence Gilland of Raleigh, N. C., served Mr. Day as best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon net. Shallow scallops of the lace framed the sheer yoke of the molded lace bodice, which was completed by long sleeves, and layers of net over satin fashioned the full skirt. Her illusion veil was held by a tiara of simulated pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Colonial Inn, Havre de Grace, Md. Upon returning from a short wedding trip, the couple will remain at Havre de Grace until September at which time they will go to California.

The bride is a former student of the University of California at Los Angeles and a member of Alpha Delta Pi. Mr. Day attended the University of Nebraska, where he is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity, and served overseas with the Navy in the Korean theater.

Included among the members of the family attending the wedding was Lieut. Richard K. Means of Maxwell Field, Ala., brother of the bride.

Year-Round Public Schools Are Foreseen

Lincoln Superintendent of Schools Steven N. Watkins and State Superintendent Freeman Decker agree that the time may be coming when public schools will be open the year round.

Decker pointed out that any movement toward year round school must come from the school districts themselves and specially from those towns and cities where enrollment would make it worth while.

Suggesting special programs such as in the fields of art, music and recreation as supplements to the regular fields of study, Decker said, "You'd be surprised at the number of pupils who would be glad to attend summer classes."

Decker said classes would aid students who have fallen behind their companions during the regular term, students who want to take extra work, teachers who otherwise would hunt up other jobs to keep in funds and put the schools to use the year round instead of having the buildings empty three months of the year.

Value Questioned

Then he added it might be well to consider if the schools do not represent such an investment that it is uneconomical to have them idle these three months.

While agreeing with the state superintendent that future schools might be year round, Watkins questioned "the value of having young people instructed the year round."

He pointed out that he was not

Damage Suit Filed Against Lincoln Firm

A $79,250 damage suit and another asking $40,000 have been filed in Lancaster District Court by Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Ericson against James R. Jones and the Capital Fire Insurance Co.

Both damage petitions involve claims for injuries allegedly suffered in an automobile accident the morning of Dec. 31, 1952, on U. S. Highway 34 approximately 1 1/2 miles east of Waco.

The petition of Pearl M. Ericson alleges that she was a passenger in the back seat of an automobile driven east by R. June Ericson, her daughter. An automobile owned by the Capital Fire Insurance Co., was being driven west on the highway by Jones, an employee, when a head-on collision occurred, according to the initial petition.

Mrs. Ericson is claiming $40,000 damages in loss of working ability and in medical expenses. The petition alleges that she will be "required to use a wheel chair, crutches or supports for the rest of her life."

The petition by Roy Ericson claims he was a passenger in the front seat of the automobile involved in the collision and his alleged damages relate to:

- $35,000..... loss of earning power
- $18,000..... loss of work time with State Agriculture Department.
- $4,825..... medical expenses
- $2,500..... anticipated medical expenses
- $5,125..... for wife's medical expenses
- $10,000..... anticipated medical expenses of wife
- $10,000..... for loss of wife's services
- $800..... for household duties performed by wife.

$79,250..... total amount asked of defendants.

Wallace W. Angle of York is the attorney representing Mr. and Mrs. Ericson.

Teen Ager's!
DON'T BE EMBARRASSED BY A BAD COMPLEXION

Try This Tested Complexion Plan - "Thrilling Results" Often Reported In 7 Days

MOST TEEN AGE SKIN problems, doctors say, are simply due to improper skin care and diet. So why be unattractive when, by following the tested Cuticura Plan, and eating sensibly, you may have the clear, smooth, radiant skin that can make any girl look more beautiful than she actually is!

JUST DO THIS! Cleanse thoroughly twice daily with warm water and Cuticura Soap. If you have externally caused blemishes or blackheads, or if skin is very oily, cleanse 3 or 4 times daily, using hot water. Rinse well with cool water. At bedtime, smooth on Cuticura Ointment; leave it on overnight.

This complete skin care does more for your skin than unmedicated preparations can possibly do. Many doctors and nurses use it. See for yourself what a lusciously smooth complexion you can have! Get Cuticura Soap and Ointment at your druggist!

opposed to the idea, and suggested that a great many problems must be answered, the number one problem being that of larger funds, before year round schools could be started.

"Having a job and working on a part-time basis is a good thing for all youngsters," he continued, because "there's a lot to living and learning to live with others" that is found outside of the classroom.

He indicated that there are other educational agencies in the community, besides the schools such as church groups, Boy and Girl Scouts and Campfire Girls. A greater share of these groups have their major activities in the summer, he said.

And, he added, summer school would keep the children out of the

Lincoln Termed 'Church City' And Records Show A Reason

Lincoln has been termed a "city of churches" with good reason.

The most complete records show that there are 107 organized congregations in the city representing 31 denominations with approximately 126 ministers.

Languages used in services of these churches range from American-style English to Latin, Russian, Greek, Ukrainian, Latvian, and German.

The church population in Lincoln is about 49,880. This unofficial figure is not accurate as many churches do not count children as members and some churches have an age limit for members.

According to the Nebraska Council of Churches, Methodists have the largest church population, with Presbyterians, Congregationalists, and Disciples (or Christians) following in order. The Council lists 24,809 church members in Lincoln.

However, the Rev. Carroll Lemon, council secretary, pointed out that these figures represent only church groups which are council members. In Lincoln, Lutherans, Catholics, and Episcopalians do not belong to the council.

Rev. Lemon says the most encouraging movement in the Council of Churches is a growing tendency of member churches to respect one another and to recognize the common goal.

The council secretary observed that the action of the Lincoln Council of Churches in assigning fields to one particular denomination to develop was a symbol of Protestants working together — but retaining their individual features.

In Lincoln, the council has assigned a new northeast subdivision to the Congregational Church. Another subdivision in southeast Lincoln will be served by the Presbyterian Church.

"In this way, the denominations can build churches in those areas to fit the needs of the entire community," he said, "without the possibility of other similar churches building in the same area and duplicating efforts."

These two churches will retain their denominational status, although Rev. Lemon said two churches outside the city now serve their communities on a non-denominational basis.

Three small churches near Rokeby merged recently to form one church. Another church, the Bennet Community Church, also is organized on that basis.

REV. LEMON... "Working together—but staying separate..."

"The assigned field plan has been done in Omaha 11 times in the past six years," Rev. Lemon said, "and has achieved great success there."

Unity among the various branches in denominations is more desirable than a union of all Protestant churches, the secretary declared.

"Working together—but staying separate is the best solution," Rev. Lemon said.

Lancaster Has Over $2 Million In Treasury

More than two million dollars is in Lancaster County coffers as of June 30, 1953, according to Treasurer C. E. Berg.

The $2,426,630.44 total will change slightly, according to Berg, when the $25,192.45 interest is pro-rated back among the funds from which it was collected, and when treasurer's commission is figured.

General breakdown of the totals, to be followed soon by annual and semi-annual treasurer's reports, is:

State funds	$ 92,943.48
County funds	1,404,422.63
Assistance funds	46,812.30
Sanitary District No. 1	222,087.88
School funds	518,351.89
City of Lincoln funds	55,450.00
Village funds	58,332.67
Miscellaneous funds	40,179.88
Total	$2,426,630.44

700-Room Hotel Will Be Constructed In Denver

DENVER (INS) — Work will begin next year on a 700-room hotel on Denver's Courthouse Square.

President William Zeckendorf of the New York realty firm of Webb & Knapp told Chamber of Commerce members and guests that his firm will start construction of the 15 million dollar hotel and merchandising center in nine to 12 months.

Council Lays Over Contested Water District Ordinance

The City Council has laid over on third reading a contested ordinance creating a water district in 64th from Dudley to Orchard and Orchard from 64th to 66th.

Milan M. Evans has asked for creation of the district to serve a new home he has under construction at 1140 No. Cotner.

Attorney Joseph Carlotto appeared before the Council to voice objections to the district in behalf of property owners in the area who would be assessed for part of the cost involved. Carlotto pointed out that no one other than Evans would be benefited from the district.

Residents living along the line of the proposed new district are already served by a private main. Carlotto suggested Evans obtain water from the main one block to the south.

Other ordinances approved on third reading were:

- Paving of 48th, 49th, 46th High to Pawnee and Pawnee, 46th to 48th.
- Paving of 55th, Randolph to J.
- Paving of 51st, South to Glade.
- Sewer in 46th, High to Pawnee.
- Water in 46th, High to Pawnee.
- Change in zoning from residence A to local business at 4603 O.
- Location of the alley between 35th and 36th from Cleveland to the Rock Island Railroad right-of-way.
- Vacation of the alley between Knox and Judson from 65th to 66th.

Central Airlines Applying For Lincoln Service

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Central Airlines, Inc., of Oklahoma City, Wednesday filed an application with the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington for a certificate to operate through St. Joseph.

The application, signed by Keith Kahle, president of the line, which operates a service from Dallas through Oklahoma City and Ponca City to Wichita, asked for permission to extend its line through Topeka, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Lincoln and Omaha.

The company further requested that the permit of Braniff Airlines to serve St. Joseph be suspended on the grounds that St. Joseph, Topeka, Ponca City and Lincoln are in need of local rather than trunk service and that Central is better equipped to give that service than Braniff.

Arch Baley, secretary of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, was asked to comment on the Central application and said, "In all likelihood, the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee would oppose the Central application if it would mean losing the very fine Braniff service Lincoln has."

Baley said it took "five years of hard work" to get the north-south line established here. The line was first furnished by Mid-Continent Airlines, the company which later merged with Braniff.

"Lincoln is interested in any additional service any other air line might be able to furnish us," Baley said. "However, we will resist losing a major facility such as Braniff."

Platte At Grand Island Dry; No Cause For Alarm

State Irrigation Bureau Chief Dan Jones reported Wednesday that the Platte River is dry at Grand Island and east toward Columbus.

However, there is no cause for alarm, Jones said.

There are no water appropriations "to amount to anything" east of the Kearney Canal, and irrigators dependent on the canal are receiving water, Jones explained.

A reported "slump" in the amount reaching the canal as the demand rose sharply after the Fourth of July holiday has been adjusted, Jones commented.

At the last measurement, Lake McConaughy held 1,735,000 acre feet of water, enough to carry appropriations and those holding storage permits through the season, he added.

The Kearney Canal is the farthest east of any appropriators and the oldest.

The Platte, reported entirely dry at Grand Island, was flowing a trickle at Columbus, above the mouth of the Loup River, Jones said.

But, he added, the river has been dry several times in recent years. Going back to 1941, first year the Kingsley Dam was in operation, the river was dry from July 3 to the end of the year and for the first three weeks of 1942. It was dry again for two short periods in August of 1942.

Periods when the river ran dry in subsequent years were:

1943, July 20-Aug. 4, Aug. 14-Sept. 13, Sept. 23-30; 1944, July 31-Aug. 26, 1945, Aug. 1-2, a trickle; 1946, Aug. 14-24, 1948, July 27-28; Aug. 31-Sept. 2.

There were no dry periods in 1947 and again in 1949, 1950 and 1951.

Omahan Freed In Motor Vehicle, Superintendent Units Get Bulk Of Former Historical Space

OMAHA (AP)—Mack F. Peterson, 26, Omaha, has been freed of a manslaughter charge in connection with the fatal shooting here June 12 of Harry L. Stinson, 31, of Omaha, formerly of Newton, Ia.

Municipal Judge Perry M. Wheeler held that the shooting was justifiable homicide and dismissed the charge.

Peterson's attorney, Hugh Boyle, argued that Peterson was afraid and acted in self defense when Stinson tried to enter his home. Stinson, his brother, James, and Mr. and Mrs. Peterson had been at a tavern together earlier in the evening.

Harry Stinson was killed by a shotgun blast in the doorway of the Peterson home.

The governor's office Wednesday announced the assignment of space in the State Capitol which is being vacated by the State Historical Society and the State Fair Board.

The bulk of the space vacated by the Historical Society has been divided between the Motor Vehicle Division and the state superintendent of schools.

This move will enable the Motor Vehicle Division to bring its workers out of the poorly ventilated basement room to which Sen. Lester Anderson referred in a report to the Legislature in the spring.

The Motor Vehicle Division receives the part of the former Historical Society Museum south of the cross aisle. Space north of this aisle goes to departments un-

Chiefs' Losing Streak Ends As Indians Felled, 7-2

Brown Records 11th Win; Lincoln 6th In Standings

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Lincoln snapped back at the expense of the Wichita Indians and won the third game of the series, 7-2, here Wednesday night.

The victory, coupled with Sioux City's 6-3 loss to league leading Denver, boosted the Chiefs into sixth place by three percentage points.

The series winds up to-night in the final appearance of the Indians here until July 29.

The Indians had a bad time of it in the first, kicking three. The Chiefs thus scored five unearned runs.

Norm Brown fooled the Indians on seven scattered hits to win his 11th game. His control put the ball where the Indians broke their backs trying to hit it.

Brown actually deserved a sixth, one-run victory, for one of the hits, a triple by Bill Springfield in the first, was a gift. Red McQuillen lost the fly ball hit a few feet inside the foul line with two away, and Springfield got a triple out of it.

Strangely enough, a dropped fly in the first half of the inning by the usually-efficient Mike Colombo had set the Chiefs off on a wild tear.

Had it been caught, it would have made two out. But when McQuillen rounded third base, Pete Konnyar fired to second for a possible double play. The ball got away from Gerry Jacobs, the relay from right got past Konnyar at third and Lincoln ran around until tagged.

Two runs came in on three er-

Vinegar Bend Pitches Two-Hitter; NY Wins

From Press Dispatches

Carl Furillo clouted a three-run homer, two doubles and a single to lead the first-place Brooklyn Dodgers to an 8-4 win over the Philadelphia Phillies at Connie Mack Stadium Wednesday night.

Gil Hodges hit his 17th homer of the season as the Dodgers continued their consecutive home-run hitting streak to 22 games. They are only four games short of the all-time record of 26, held by the New York Yanks.

Furillo's homer came in the fifth inning with two on and was the Dodgers' 100th round-tripper of the season.

Billy Loes was the winning pitcher and Karl Drews was the victim of the Dodger attack.

The St. Louis Cardinals, riding in third place, kept pace with the league-leading Brooks by beating Cincinnati, 7-3, behind the two-hit pitching of Vinegar Bend Mizell and the hitting of two of the Polish Falcons, Ray Jablonski and Rip Repulski.

Mizell limited the Reds to a harmless single by Bob Borkowski and a ninth-inning home run by Jim Greengrass.

A hit batsman, three straight walks and a force out gave the Redlegs their first two runs.

Meanwhile, Jablonski and Repulski were giving Cincinnati pitchers heavy punishment. Jablonski wound up with five hits in five times at bat. Repulski was a two for five hitter and one of his blows was a three run homer in the seventh—his third circuit wallop in two games here.

Monte Irvin batted in seven runs with a three-run double in the first inning and a grand-slam homer in the 11th to extend the New York Giants' winning streak to six straight with a 10-7 win over Pittsburgh.

Larry Jansen relieved Hoyt Wilhelm after the Pirates had sent the game into extra innings by scoring twice in the eighth on a bases-loaded single by Cal Abrams. Jansen went on to win and John Hetki was the loser.

Home runs by Clyde McCullough and Bill Serena, plus a three-run uprising against reliever Lew Burdette in the eighth, gave the Chicago Cubs a 7-3 victory over Milwaukee before the season's second successive record crowd at the Stadium—37,119 fans.

Welch Tosses No-Hitter; Prescott Hits Whittier

Browns Break Losing Streak; Nats Hit A's

From Press Dispatches

The New York Yankees downed the Boston Red Sox, 4-2, Wednesday night behind the six-hit pitching of Jim McDonald, before a crowd of 41,910 at Yankee Stadium.

McDonald, winning his fifth game in eight decisions, got most of his trouble from Sid Hudson, the second of Boston's three pitchers. Hudson batted in Boston's first run in the third with a single and the second in the fifth with a triple.

The Yankees made 10 hits, all singles, off Starter Bill Henry and Hudson, scoring a pair in the first, one in the second and one in the sixth.

Gil McDougald led the attack with three singles. His first hit, with the bases loaded in the first, scored two runs.

The St. Louis Browns scored their first home victory after 20 straight losses when they rallied for five runs in the sixth inning to turn back the Cleveland Indians, 6-3.

The loss knocked the Indians into third place, one-half game behind the Chicago White Sox and six and one-half games out of the American League lead.

Sam Mele's grand-slam homer launched an eight-run third inning that enabled the Chicago White Sox to zoom past the Tribe into second place by beating Detroit, 14-4. The victory was the Sox' 20th in their last 25 games.

Virgil Trucks won his fourth straight game as a Sox pitcher although he was relieved by Luis Aloma in the eighth. Minnie Minoos added a three-run double to Mele's grand-slammer in the big third inning.

Washington survived two homers by Eddie Robinson and another by Cass Michaels to defeat the Philadelphia A's, 7-4. Sonny Dixon picked up his fourth win in relief of Chuck Stobbs.

Irish, Globetrotters Sign Big Screen Pacts

NEW YORK (AP)—Notre Dame's home football games and several games involving the Harlem Globetrotter basketball team will be seen on theater television screens during the coming seasons.

Milton N. Mound, president of the newly organized Box Office Television, Inc., announced Wednesday that he had signed a five-year contract with Notre Dame for the televising of a minimum number of home football and basketball games, and a six-year pact with the Harlem Globetrotters.

Mound said that there were 110 theaters in 62 cities equipped to handle the big screen portrayal of the games and that "35 theaters showed interest in our product even before they knew that we could offer them such attractions."

Broadway theatricals and musical productions of such scope that they include the Metropolitan Opera also are being contacted for showing, Mound said.

Mound said that the theater admission prices would be kept as low as economically possible "possibly in the range of $1.25 or $1.50 for football." The basketball games likely would be shown as a part of the regular theater program.

The Notre Dame football offerings for 1953 are the Oct. 17 game with Pittsburgh, Oct. 24

No Lincoln TV Theater

No Lincoln theatre is equipped for big screen television at present, a check by The Lincoln Star revealed Wednesday night. The nearest spot where Nebraskans may view the Notre Dame and Globetrotter games on big-screen TV is Omaha, where one theatre is listed by Mound as being among those equipped for the new medium.

with Georgia Tech, Oct. 31 with Navy, Nov. 21 with Iowa, and Dec. 5 with Southern Methodist.

The latter game also will be shown on the NCAA home television program over the NBC network but Mound said that "by that time we hope

'I'll Just Have To Talk To Red Sox,' Newsmen Told

Williams Still Unsure Of Baseball Future

HONOLULU (INS)—Home-run artist Ted Williams, who has not touched a bat in 16 months, said Wednesday he will "just have to talk to the Red Sox" to find out if he is going back to baseball.

The Marine Corps captain, who arrived in Pearl Harbor from Korea Wednesday after flying 39 Panther Jet missions, left for California Wednesday night. He will fly to Moffett Field south of San Francisco and then enter the Oak Knoll Naval Hospital in Oakland, Calif., for a thorough check of the ear trouble which grounded him.

Captain Williams was a little nervous as he met newsmen in Honolulu. He rubbed his jaw, pulled at his hands and fussed with his cap while newsmen asked him about Korea.

But he reacted with a broad grin—just like any returning Marine—when the talk turned to baseball and fishing.

Williams said that his chronic ear trouble became worse after a siege of pneumonia and he was grounded a short while later.

The former Boston Red Sox slugger said that he is due for discharge in October regardless of what the doctors decide about his condition. Asked if he believed it would hamper his baseball playing, Williams said:

"It should not cause any trouble."

Williams, a little heavier than when he went to Korea, said he is out of shape now and added: "I haven't even had a bat in my hands in 16 months. It's going to take me a long time to get in shape."

"Going back this season is completely out of the question and I don't even know about next year."

"I just have to talk to the Red Sox."

State's Fishing Still Fairly Good, Says Commission Report

Fishing is still "fairly good for this time of year," despite the fact that summer's hot weather has had its effects, the Fish and Game Commission reported Wednesday.

"The Elkhorn and Platte Rivers are at their lowest levels of the year," the Commission's weekly report said. But some rivers, although lower than usual, still produced good fishing, the report continued.

The Republican River provided good fishing for catfish, as did the Little Blue and Cedar Rivers.

Lake Maloney produced big fish of a diversity of species.

Better waters included: Lake McConaugh, walleye; Dora Lake, bullheads; Pelican Lake, bass; Box Butte Reservoir, carp; Spring Valley Lake, bass, perch; Fremont State Lakes, bluegill; and Hord Lake, crappie and bluegill.

Del Rice May Miss Out On All Star Title

CINCINNATI (AP)—Del Rice, St. Louis Cardinal catcher who had been selected as a member of the National League All Star squad, suffered a dislocation of the thumb on his right hand in Wednesday night's game with the Cincinnati Reds.

The thumb also was lacerated and it was expected he would be out of action for about a week even if X-rays do not disclose a fracture.

Rice, a native of Portsmouth, O., planned to return to St. Louis immediately.

He was hurt in the second inning by a foul tip off the bat of Cincinnati's Roy McMillan.

Rice was named by Manager Charlie Dressen of the Brooklyn Dodgers as one of three catchers on the National League All-Star team which will meet the American Leaguers here next Tuesday.

Zulueta Gets Easy Win Over Persley

NEW YORK (AP)—Orlando Zulueta, a sad-faced Cuban with a talented left, found favored Arthur Persley of Red Cross, La., a wobbly-legged target Wednesday night to win a unanimous 10-round decision before a small "TV studio audience" at Madison Square Garden.

Zulueta weighed 132½, Persley weighed 135½.

Time after time Zulueta spun Persley with left hooks to the head or short right chops to the jaw. He never went down, except for a push in the second round, but it never was close.

Persley simply was unable to take punishment, although Zulueta never has been famed for his punch. He has knocked out only five of 71 opponents. Every time the Cuban dropped his right to the chin, Persley wobbled.

Officials' scorecards:

Referee Ruby Goldstein: Zulueta-6; Persley-2; Even-2.

Judge Art Aida: Zulueta-7; Persley-2; Even-1.

Judge Frank Forbes: Zulueta-8; Persley-1; Even-1.

Yankees Are Uninjured As Bus Hits El Structure

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees reported only bruises as an aftermath of a night's bus accident when the bus carrying the club to the railroad station from the Philadelphia ball park crashed into a low-hanging elevated structure.

Gene Woodling, Charley Silvera, Coach Jim Turner, Trainer Gus Mauch and Manager Casey Stengel were bruised and everybody on the bus was shaken up.

ANSLEY, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Ted Ostrand of Ansley isn't letting paralysis that has plagued him since a siege of polio ruin his life.

Paralyzed from his waist down, Ted is limited in the jobs that he can do. But there's one he has found he can do as well as anyone else... that's selling insurance.

State Polio Total Mounts As 11 New Cases Are Listed

The polio case total in Nebraska stood at 48 Wednesday following reports of 11 new cases in the state through last week.

The total still was ahead of last year's incidence figure of 43 at this time. However, State Health Department officials pointed out that last year's near-epidemic started gaining momentum early in July.

Last week's cases included two in Scotts Bluff County and one each in Adams, Frontier, Hall, Harlan, Lancaster, Merrick, Nebraska, Pawnee and Webster counties.

Book Burning 'Act Against Freedom'

WASHINGTON (INS) — The retiring head of the U.S. overseas Information Agency declared Wednesday night that the burning of any book is "a wicked, symbolic act."

In a special policy statement, specifically approved by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Dr. Robert L. Johnson said: "There is no place for book burnings in an American library—let alone a library operated by our government."

Earlier, Johnson admitted that a few Communist-authored volumes had been literally burned by librarians under his jurisdiction.

In the policy statement, he declared: "We don't deal with ideas we dislike by imitating the totalitarian techniques we despise. The burning of a book is not an act against the book alone; it is an act against free institutions."

Johnson, who has announced his resignation as head of the International Information Administration, also listed these points as the State Department policy on books by Communist authors:

1. The overseas libraries "are in business to advance American democracy, not Communist conspiracy."

2. Nevertheless, specific books by Communist authors may be admitted to the shelves of the libraries abroad if the material in them "serves the ends of democracy."

3. In appraising books for such libraries, "the reputation of the author must be considered."

4. "Controversial books are of course acceptable and indeed essential, if by controversy an honest difference of opinion is meant."

Johnson emphasized that selections of books "to be placed in the subversive category calls for the most careful and skillful judgment." He added that in eliminating Communist or Communist material from shelves of the libraries abroad, volumes which criticize American policies and institutions should not be removed—even if they happen to attack the same things Communists criticize.

The library program, he noted, is designed "to further the understanding of America."

The Johnson-Dulles special policy statement was the latest development in the controversy over U.S. counter propaganda activities which has raged since Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) began probing the information program.

Earlier, the White House summarized a report in which President Eisenhower's psychological warfare experts added a warning against so-called "book burning." The report generally agreed with the Johnson policy pronouncement.

In testimony made public Wednesday by Congress, Johnson reported that he has fired at least six "very important" or "pretty important" information employees since he took the position on March 3.

The IIA chief mentioned no names and stressed that he did not know if the six were "disloyal," but that "there was enough about them to indicate they were security risks."

In his testimony, Johnson assured Congress that the information service is instituting "the tightest possible security system."

Iran Told 'No Aid' Until Oil Deal Settled

Red Activity 'Disturbing' Says Letter

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—President Eisenhower has told Premier Mohammed Mossadegh that the United States is disturbed by the freedom allowed Communist activity in Iran and will give him no large-scale economic aid until he reaches an agreement with Britain on oil, Iran sources reported Wednesday.

The White House said there would be no comment on the reported Eisenhower message "at this time."

The informants said the President, in his administration's first communication to the Iranian Premier, wrote a letter which was believed to have been delivered within the last week.

About Economic Aid

The letter was said to have referred only to economic aid, indicating that the present military assistance and Point Four technical assistance program would continue. Aside from a 25 million dollar Export-Import Bank loan in 1950 for economic developments, 47 million dollars in Point Four aid, and an undisclosed amount of military equipment and the services of a small military mission in helping train the army and gendarmerie, the United States has furnished no assistance to Iran.

U.S. Ambassador Loy Henderson left for the United States on June 1 for a long vacation after collapse of his latest efforts to settle the controversy over nationalization of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company properties here. He was reported by the Tehran press to have carried with him a renewed appeal from Mossadegh for U.S. financial aid.

The President's letter presumably was an answer to that appeal. He was said to have stated that the American taxpayer could not be expected to shell out money which Iran could earn through oil revenues.

Do Your Legs Itch?

A Lack of Natural Skin Oils Often the Cause

Dry skin, a lack of natural skin oils, often causes maddening, persistent itching of legs and ankles. Relieve dry skin itch with Resinol, the medicated, oil-rich ointment containing lanolin that lubricates parched skin surface, acts in place of Nature's own missing oils. Resinol quiets agonizing itching almost immediately. Comfort lasts for hours as Resinol helps Nature heal irritated parts.

Resinol Ointment is wonderful for irritation of cold sores, minor burns... also dry eczema, winter itch, chapping, chafing, rectal itch. For babies, Resinol gives gentle relief from discomfort of diaper and minor skin rashes, chafing, prickly heat.

Condemned Slayer Christie Offers Aid In Hanging Inquiry

LONDON (INS)—John R. Christie, condemned "Notting Hill" killer of seven women, offered Wednesday night to aid in the inquiry of the 1950 hanging of Timothy J. Evans for the murder of his child.

The inquiry was ordered by the British government in face of growing belief that Christie might have committed the murder for which Evans was sent to the gallows. Christie admitted killing Evans' wife, Beryl Susanna.

Christie made his offer from his death cell, in Pentonville prison. He is scheduled to die July 15, but execution may be postponed because of the investigation.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . .

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. Aiken, Kerr Exchange Blasts In Bitter Drought Aid Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Angry charges of playing politics and harming farmers flew on the Senate floor Wednesday night during Senate debate on a multi-million-dollar bill to extend federal aid to the drought-parched Southwest.

Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) drew a blast from Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) by asking that Congress order Secretary of Agriculture Benson to buy live beef cattle at 90 per cent of parity as a relief measure.

Aiken shouted that Kerr "has done more harm to the farmers of Oklahoma than any other factor."

Aiken, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, had spent hours trying to get speedy Senate approval of the disaster loan provision for ranchers and cattlemen in Texas, Oklahoma and other drought areas.

Benson Assailed

When the bill appeared near passage, Kerr arose to offer his amendment proposing direct government price supports.

The Oklahoma senator delivered a sharp attack upon Secretary Benson, saying he lacked vision and refused to take responsibility.

Kerr said cattlemen had lost 30 million dollars each day and their total losses under the Republican administration was equal to the recent federal deficit of more than nine billion dollars.

Aiken told Kerr his statements were not true. He said he wished Kerr would quit injecting politics into the farm program.

Senate action on the relief measure was temporarily stalled when Sen. Griswold (R-Neb.) called for an amendment to force the government to buy live cattle. Griswold argued that would reduce the cattle population and thus improve cattle prices to help the hard-hit beef raisers.

Among other things, Griswold proposed that the government should purchase brood cows and provide payments for paying weifers, so they could not have calves.

That brought a shouted protest from Sen. Tobey (R-NH) who said it reminded him of an early "New Deal" suggestion by Henry A. Wallace, former secretary of agriculture and former vice president, for sterilization of cows.

"What nonsense!" Tobey boomed. "Don't spay the cows—castrate the bulls."

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas asked Aiken if Secretary Benson now has authority and plenty of money to buy cattle if that is the thing to do," Aiken replied.

Ike Committee Sees Step-Up In Kremlin Efforts Against U.S.

WASHINGTON (P) — A presidential committee said Wednesday Soviet Russia's rulers are still bent on world conquest and predicted that the Kremlin will step up its efforts to isolate the United States as the major barrier in its path.

In a formal report to President Eisenhower, the committee also called for "a greater effort to inform our citizens of the dangers that confront them" in the struggle with Russia — including information on "the growth of the Soviet atomic capability."

2. Warned there is "danger" in setting up U. S. foreign policies beyond the nations capabilities to carry them out. "This has been a prevalent error in the past," it said.

The study group, known as the President's Committee on International Information Activities, was set up by Eisenhower soon after his inauguration. It is headed by William H. Jackson, New York investment banker.

Data Highly Secret
The White House, in releasing a summary of the committee's recommendations, said much of the data is highly secret. It said the committee has interviewed more than 250 witnesses, including many federal officials and members of Congress.

Among its specific recommendations, the committee called for abolishing the two-year-old Psychological Strategy Board on the ground that it "does not meet the real need which exists." In its place, the group urged the creation of a new "Operations Coordinating Board" under the top policy-making National Security Council.

The White House summary of the report emphasized at the outset that the detah of Soviet Premier Stalin and the advent of a new Soviet regime have marked no perceptible progress toward peace.

"The committee stressed that there is no reliable evidence that the recent changes in the Soviet regime and in Soviet tactics involve any change in the basic Soviet objective of a Communist world controlled by the Kremlin," the White House summary said.

"The United States as the center of power in the free world is the principle obstacle in the path of the Soviet drive. The isolation of the United States as the first step toward its domination or destruction is a major goal of Soviet policy."

Board Of Pardons Commutes Lowe's Life Term To 30 Years

The life in prison term of Jeff Lowe who was convicted in 1939 of first degree murder in Omaha has been commuted to 30 years by the Board of Pardons.

Slender, gray haired and nervous, the 60-year-old Lowe presented his appeal to the Board in a barely audible tone.

"I have placed by faith in Jesus Christ," Lowe murmured, "and prayed to the Lord for mercy. I'm sorry for what I have done."

Lowe was sentenced from Douglas County for the stabbing of Regina Schwackin, Omaha, following an argument over wages. According to Penitentiary records, Lowe dismembered his victim's body after discovering he had killed her.

The Board granted neither a parole or commutation to Valree Johnson of Omaha, Johnson, 39, was sentenced from Douglas County also in 1938 to 25 years after convicted of second degree murder.

Other cases and the Board's action: Larry Medley, 18, Kearney, sentenced for rape from Buffalo County to four years in 1952, paroled.
Everett Engelhardt, 31, Crook, Colo., statutory rape, Deuel, seven years, 1950, paroled.

William A. Schreiber, 21, Omaha, burglary, Douglas, two years, 1952, paroled.
Joe Willie Glover, 38, Omaha, robbery, Douglas, 10 years, 1949, paroled.

Spence, Gillette May Join Interior Department Staff

Two Nebraskans may join the staff of the Interior Department in Washington.

Edward Gillette of Holdrege and Paul Spence, Franklin attorney, are conferring in Washington with Department officials about the possibility.

A Department spokesman said that the discussions probably will continue the rest of the week, according to the Associated Press. Gillette, former state treasurer, may get a position with the Bureau of Land Management, it was reported.

Spence reportedly is discussing the possibility of joining the Interior Department's legal staff which is headed by Clarence Davis of Lincoln.

East Berlin's Sit-Down Strikers Win Concession

Barricades Are Lifted To West Sector

BERLIN (AP)—Mutinous East Berlin workers badgered the Russians into lifting their armed barricade of the city's East-West border Wednesday by staging sit-down and slow-down strikes. Work was almost halted at many big industrial plants.

But the strikers were not satisfied. They continued to loaf and protest and may keep up their harassing tactics Thursday. In many places in East Germany, too, the workers were reported striking.

The workers were unarmed. The Russians were backed by the tanks and troops of two divisions on the outskirts, and fully armed East German troops and police called into the city.

But by loafing and arguing, the workers caused production to sag so alarmingly that the Communists agreed to restore normal traffic between East and West Berlin, effective Thursday.

This impressive victory caused Western observers to wonder when the chain reaction would stop—whether the Soviets ever again would be able to restore their iron grip in East Germany.

The victory was won without any of the violence which rocked the Soviet zone on June 17 and cost scores of lives.

At one time, Wednesday morning the temper of the workers was reported so ugly that another march on the government headquarters, such as was attempted three weeks ago, was feared. But such an attempt probably would have turned into a massacre and the workers avoided it.

They simply stopped working periodically throughout the day to belabor their Red bosses with demands. In most places they worked at half-speed between protests, according to West Berliners returning from their jobs late Wednesday. In some plants those at the benches sat down virtually all day.

Their main demands:

Release of the thousands arrested in the riots of three weeks ago.

Lifting of the travel restrictions between East and West Berlin.

At mid-day the Russians yielded on the second point. A Peoples Police announcement said "Free travel by the population between East and West Berlin will be restored, effective tomorrow (Thursday)."

This meant elevated and subway trains would resume running across town instead of stopping at the sector borders for the first time since martial law was declared on June 17.

It meant the 80,000 crossing the border to work no longer would have to queue up for hard-to-get passes.

It also meant that the Russians have virtually abolished martial law without saying so. The curfew was abolished last week and

Ambassador's Wife Studying State Home Extension Service

By MARILYN K. SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

An ambassador's wife, whose major aim in life is to raise living standards of rural women in her country, is in Lincoln making a study of the home extension program in Nebraska.

Lady Nasamany Coomaraswamy of Ceylon hopes that someday a college of home economics will be established in Ceylon. She said the Ford Foundation has plans to establish such a school in Pakistan.

"Then we could send out extension workers from there," she said.

Two big problems in Ceylon, mentioned by Lady Coomaraswamy, are low economic standards and the "cleavage" which exists between peasants and plantation owners.

She is spending six weeks in the United States as a guest of the American Farm Bureau Federation. She is on her way to Toronto, Canada, for the International Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World. She is vice-chairman of that organization, and is a candidate for the presidency.

At the Toronto meeting, she will act as chairman of a panel on increasing extension work in the countries of southeast Asia.

Lady Coomaraswamy has lived in London for the past four years while her husband served as deputy high commissioner from Ceylon.

Russian tanks and troops have been largely withdrawn to the outskirts.

Lifting of the irksome barrier to intercity travel was one of the major demands of the Western Allies in repeated protests to the Soviets.

How many workers joined in Wednesday's strike was impossible to determine. Western reporters could not penetrate the sealed area.

U.S. High Commissioner James B. Conant, here on a visit, was believed to have taken up with Allied and German authorities the idea of shipping American surplus feed to East Germany. The commissioner was reported to have been asked by the State Department for an opinion on the idea.

The purpose would be to give humanitarian aid to hungry people and to make political capital out of the unrest in the East Zone.

Two Lincolmites File Voluntary Bankruptcy Papers

Two voluntary bankruptcy petitions were filed in U.S. District Court Wednesday by Lincoln men. Otis F. Taylor of 2403 J. listed a total of unsecured liabilities at $2,614.71 and $367 in secured claims, bringing total debts to $2,981.71. A deduction of $50 in household goods was listed.

Included in the unsecured claims over $100 by Taylor are:
